Nazis Say Russians Enter Bulgaria.

LONDON, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Russian troops racing across the Danube valley toward a junction with Marshal Tito's forces were reported last night to be less than 50 miles from the Yugoslav frontier.

The swift Russian advance toward the Iron Gate pass on the road leading to Yugoslavia and southern Hungary was reported by Joseph Morton, Associated Press correspondent, who flew up the Danube river from Bucharest, capital of Romania.

He said Red army columns were west of Craiova, which is 110 miles west of Bucharest, and within 50 miles of the Yugoslav border. Craiova is the chief commercial center west of Bucharest.

Moscow announced that other soviet units had cut thru the Transylvanian Alps and captured Brasov, an axis stronghold.

Brasov Key to Four Passes.

Brasov, on the Transylvania side of the Carpathian mountain chain, is a six way rail junction 53 miles northwest of the Ploesti oil fields and is the key to four mountain passes. Moscow said Romanian troops helped to capture the city.

In their push thru the Predeal pass into Brasov, the Russians also occupied Sinaia, Romanian summer place town.

Targoviste, Gaesti, and 146 other localities also were captured, Moscow said.

A Berlin broadcast reported that Russian troops had set up bridgeheads on Bulgarian territory.

While Moscow did not confirm a crossing into Bulgaria, its bulletin told of the capture of 6,000 Germans on Friday and Saturday near Calarasi, 62 miles southeast of Bucharest.

Hint Push Into Bulgaria.

The Red army now is arrayed on a 150 mile sector along Bulgaria's frontier, and Moscow dispatches said there were indications the Red army intends to cut across Bulgaria, preferably with Bulgaria's consent, in order to seal off German troops caught in Greece or lower Yugoslavia.

In a trap sprung weeks ago on 12 German divisions southwest of Chisinau, 210 miles northeast of Bucharest, the Russians finally liquidated the last Nazi resistance, killing 3,000 Germans and capturing 3,500, the bulletin said. These, Moscow said, made a total of 431,100 axis troops killed or captured since Aug. 20, when the Romanian campaign began.

New Success Above Warsaw.

In a new offensive between the Bug and Narew rivers northeast of Warsaw, capital of Poland, the 2d White Russian army captured 100 localities southwest of Lomza, German stronghold 20 miles below the German East Prussian border, Moscow said. Berlin admitted "preliminary breaches" in the German front but said they had been sealed off.

Estimate 14,795 Flyers Lost in 70 Days to Aug. 15

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP).—It was estimated today that 14,795 allied airmen were lost by death or capture in the first 70 days of the invasion, ending Aug. 15.

King Restores Romania Rule to Its People

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Romania, Sept. 4.—By royal decree, King Michael today formally restored the 1923 democratic constitution of Romania, which had been abolished by his father, King Carol. Until a national legislature can be elected, its powers will be exercised by the king and his cabinet, in which all parties, including the Communists, are represented.

All dictatorial powers held by the prime minister were abolished by today's decree. All anti-Jewish laws passed under the regime of Marshal Ion Antonescu were annulled. Thousands of Jewish lawyers, doctors, teachers, and others who were driven from their professions by those laws will resume their old functions.

Press to Be Curbed.

The government, however, has warned the press that press controls, dropped after the palace revolution on Aug. 27, will be reestablished.

Marshal Antonescu, who drove his country down the road to fascism, was under arrest here, with several of his leading collaborators. It is not true that he has been taken away by the Russians, but detachments of Russian soldiers and many Communists have been added to the Romanian police who are guarding him.

With Antonescu are his chief aid and namesake, Mihai Antonescu; his former war minister, Gen. Constantin Pantazi, and Gen. C. Vasiliu, who as undersecretary in the ministry of the interior, was in charge of most of the police actions of the Antonescu regime.

Baron Manfred von Killinger, German minister to Romania, created a sensation when he shot himself on Saturday after killing his pretty secretary. Killinger had won a reputation for toughness and was able to do as he pleased here. He lost heart when he heard the Russians were looking for him.

Hoax Feared by Russians.

Russian officers visited leading restaurants today with photographs of Killinger and showed them to persons who knew him, to make sure the body was his. There had been rumors that a hoax had been devised to save him and that the body wasn't really his. The Swedish minister was one who identified it as Killinger's.

Russian soldiers are having a gay time, touring the shops and buying everything in sight. Their rubles have been given a value of 100 Romanian lei each. The Russian occupation lei are worth 500 of the real Romanian lei.

MANAGER SAYS CHEVALIER WILL TURN UP ALIVE

PARIS, France, Sept. 4 (AP).—Maurice Chevalier, French actor, probably is still alive, Max Ruppa, his manager, said today. He speculated that rumors that the actor had been killed by French Maquis [patriots] sprang from the execution three months ago of a small town mayor of the same name. Ruppa said he had heard from Chevalier on July 15, which was after the mayor had been killed. He asserted Chevalier was patriotic and the Maquis would have had no cause to kill him.

THE SPECTER RIDES AGAIN

EARTH TREMORS FELT IN CHICAGO

Quake Hits Many Cities in Northeast Area.

Earth tremors, felt by residents on Chicago's north side and reported by other cities all the way to the east coast and as far north as Montreal, Canada, resulted from a "severe earthquake" approximately 750 miles northeast of Chicago, Prof. A. R. Schmitt, Loyola University, disclosed early today.

Altho the reports were widespread, it was indicated that the heaviest shock was felt in Montreal, where it was reported by telephone to THE TRIBUNE that "a severe shock has been felt for 30 seconds." Prof. Schmitt said the shock came at 11:40:43 p. m. [CWT] and lasted approximately 35 seconds.

THE TRIBUNE learned by telephone that the earthquake apparently centered in Cornwall, Ontario, about 86 miles west of Montreal. Reports to Montreal from that textile manufacturing city disclosed that the walls of several buildings collapsed and at least one person had been injured.

Many Awakened Here.

Only those living on the north side were aware of the shock here. Telephones in THE TRIBUNE rang for 30 minutes from residents who reported they were awakened or had "been made ill" by the tremors.

Slight shocks in southeastern Wisconsin set coat hangers, lamp shades, and switchboard cords swaying, police reported. Reports also came from cities in Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Delaware, with slighter shocks in Ohio and central Indiana.

As reports were received from various parts of the country, it became apparent that the eastern seaboard cities were most affected by the earthquake. In Hackensack, N. J., floor lamps were knocked over in houses and prisoners of the Bergen county jail were reported near panic from fear.

New York Area Shaken.

In the New York area, tremors were felt at intervals, it was reported. At La Guardia airport, officials said that the tremors were felt distinctly in the administration building and reported one tremor lasted between 45 and 50 seconds.

Prof. Schmitt recalled that a similar earthquake shook Chicago on Nov. 1, 1935, 12:05 a. m., but that it centered near the mouth of the St. Lawrence river where "earthquakes have been fairly prominent since Indian lore days." The quake, he added, was not quite as severe as the one in 1935 but he said that "it would have caused considerable damage if it centered in a populated region."

In a Jeep Across France! Writer Tells of Dodging Nazis

Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent who accompanied the United States 7th army in its invasion of southern France, has showed up at Nantes, a port in western France about 400 miles from Bourg, deepest known point of penetration by the 7th army. In the following dispatch he tells of his jeep trip across France. An earlier dispatch, covering a trip by Kennedy to the Swiss frontier, was released at the same time and is published herewith.

NANTES, France, Sept. 4 (AP).—War correspondents from the south entered Nantes, near the mouth of the Loire river, late Sunday night.

We traveled with the aid of Maquis [patriot] forces several hundred miles thru country liberated by French Forces of the Interior and slipped between two big, desperate and trapped German units.

Entering the city in darkness, the first evidence we encountered of the allied forces driving from the north was an American ambulance.

We had many diversions and delays on our trip, but always received maximum help from the Maquis, who passed us from town to town and told us how to avoid the Germans.

We encountered several groups of American soldiers who have been with the Maquis several months. In each case we were the first Americans from the outside world they had encountered. They wrung our hands and even stroked our jeep.

The French population greeted us with enthusiasm. One of our most difficult problems was to get past towns without hurting the feelings of the people, who wanted to open champagne and hold celebrations.

It was with difficulty we tried to persuade them that they had better be cautious because German formations might speed thru their villages at any moment in an attempt to break out northeastward—the German's route of retreat in this area.

Gasoline for the Asking.

Everywhere we went we found the Maquis our friends. They fed us, gave us information and supplied us with something more valuable than gold—gasoline. And when we ran out of cigarets they gave us those, too, altho they had few.

We passed thru many burned villages, scenes of German atrocities. We visited the ruins of Oradour-sur-Glane, in which the Germans put hundreds of civilians to death. We talked to survivors.

Thru all this vast region the F. F. I. had the situation well in hand, except where the Germans had big formations.

Nazi Vehicles Strew Roads.

On all roads of the German withdrawal we saw vehicles smashed by Maquis forces, who went at them with bazookas, grenades, machine guns, and any other weapon obtainable.

Visit Swiss Border

THE SWISS FRONTIER AT GENEVA, Aug. 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—French Forces of the Interior have annihilated the Germans thruout a vast area stretching northward from Grenoble to the Swiss border.

In a 350 mile trip thru this part of France—in the departments of Siere, Savoie, Haute Savoie, and Ain—the only Germans I saw were dead ones or prisoners. Not only have French resistance forces wrested the region from the Germans but they are assuring order thruout it.

They have killed or captured several thousand Germans, sent others fleeing into Switzerland and compelled many battalions to withdraw toward Germany for fear or being cut off.

No allied army formations have yet entered the area. Patriots have done the job alone, permitting American forces which reached Grenoble to be used against Germans elsewhere.

We could have brought in thousands of German prisoners. We received messages from Germans wanting to surrender to Americans rather than to the Maquis. But we knew the Maquis could handle them.

The Germans' situation is crumbling rapidly in this area and they are unnerved. But in their desperation they are committing atrocities against the French population.

Ferried Over Rivers.

Our greatest difficulty was in getting across rivers. All bridges had been destroyed, but the Maquis got tugs and barges and pulled our jeep and trailer across.

We went from town to town with a Maquis pass that worked wonders.

The only Germans we saw were prisoners of the Maquis. We saw many German army trains that had been blown up or derailed by the Maquis.

One American major we met had been with the Maquis for months.

243,848 War Prisoners in U. S.; 192,846 Germans

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—War prisoners held in this country totaled 243,848 on Sept. 1 the war department reported today, 192,846 of the total being Germans. Italian prisoners numbered 50,272, and Japanese 730.

BELGIAN PORT OF ANTWERP FALLS; TAKE BREDA, 12 MILES IN HOLLAND

Fleet, Planes Blast 107 Aircraft; Bombard Wake.

A series of American air and naval actions over the Pacific war front announced yesterday and early today at Pearl Harbor and at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters revealed the sinking or damaging of 44 Japanese ships and barges. In addition 107 Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged.

Nimitz Sinks 13 Ships.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Sept. 4 (AP).—A three day series of raids and two days of ship bombardment of Japanese bases in the Bonin and Volcano Islands, south of Japan, in which 13 enemy vessels were sunk were announced today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

In addition, four ships probably were sunk and three ships and a sampan damaged.

Eighty-five Japanese aircraft were destroyed or damaged.

The raids began Aug. 30 against Chichi and Haha Islands in the Bonins, about 650 miles south of Tokyo, and Iwo in the Volcanes. Iwo is 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Warships Shell Wake.

In addition, Nimitz reported, carriers, cruisers, and destroyers bombed and shelled Wake yesterday.

Other aircraft hit Rota and Maug in the Marianas, Paramushiro in the northern Kuriles, Truk and Ponape in the Carolines, Nauru Island, west of the Gilberts, and Mill, Wotje, and Maloelap atolls in the Marshalls.

No damage to ships was reported in the three-day action, the sharpest in the Pacific in several weeks.

Since the Volcano islands are 1,645 miles from Wake, it was considered unlikely that the same forces made both raids. If this is true, then it marked the first time that the navy felt it had sufficient ships in the central Pacific to split the fleet into two task forces.

MacArthur Blasts 17 Ships.

GEN. HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Seventeen Japanese ships were sunk or damagd severely and more than 200 tons of explosives were unloaded in new attacks on Japan's widefling bases guarding the Philippines, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

Two furious air blows, on steadily pounded Mindanao, southernmost of the Philippines, and on Dutch Celebes to the south, accounted for 15 vessels ranging down from a 3,000 ton transport.

Fifteen parked planes were destroyed at Celebes and seven destroyed or damaged in the air. One United States bomber was lost.

Ship Sinkings Listed.

The heavy blow to Japan's shipping, vital to maintenance of her Southwest Pacific holdings, was accounted for thus:

Off Mindanao—Twelve freighters sunk or severely damaged.

Celebes—Three ships sunk or damaged.

Talaud Island [between Halmahera and Mindanao]—One freighter destroyed or damaged.

Halmahera—One freighter sunk.

In addition at least six barges were sunk.

Davao's airdromes were further neutralized. Medium planes bombed and strafed supply installations on Halmahera.

[The heavy blows against Davao brought a warning from the Tokyo radio to the homeland that an allied "move northward from New Guinea into Mindanao" was near at hand.]

JAPS TO STEP UP DEFENSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

With the war creeping steadily closer to the Japanese homeland, the Tokyo radio yesterday announced plans to step up home defense measures with a nation-wide mobilization of the "national reservists organization."

NAZI ESCAPE GAP NEAR MONS MADE MASSACRE TRAP

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONS, Belgium, Sept. 4.—Hundreds of German tanks, guns, and trucks wrecked or burned. Hundreds of Germans killed. More hundreds wounded. Three generals with their staff officers captured. Between 8,000 and 10,000 Germans taken prisoner from 20 divisions.

All this has happened since yesterday morning on the battleground between Mons, Belgium, and Maubeuge, France, and the wooded countryside to the west. There still is fighting in small sections of this sector. Some Germans, tho the lateral roads are chock full of smashed equipment and bodies, are still trying to break thru on the shortest escape route to Germany.

By Planes and Armor.

But most of the Germans, who thought they had a 15 mile escape gap open and who tried to run thru it, are believed to have been accounted for in one of the greatest bags of this campaign. For the Germans this was a catastrophe. They were trapped between American war planes strafing and bombing from the sky and heavy columns of armor, infantry, and artillery on the ground, which had moved into the Mons area far faster than the Germans apparently believed was possible.

The result produced some fierce and bloody engagements as the Germans butted into our columns moving into Mons. Battalions became isolated for hours as the battle raged. The road between Maubeuge and Mons often was cut and even last night there was more slaughter outside Mons as more desperate Germans chanced our steel gantlet and were shredded by direct hits from tank destroyers waiting in position near every crossroads.

All day long yesterday, last night, and this morning columns of prisoners were marching down those roads. They were coming in almost like the last days of Tunisia.

Witnessed by Illinoisan.

But before they surrendered these Germans fought. They attacked sometimes in waves and were mowed down in waves. That sounds like movie talk. But it's true. Probably nothing like it has been seen since the last war when men charged by battalions and went down by battalions.

From the top floor of a house at a crossroads on the Belgian frontier he used as a command post, Maj. Francis W. Adams, Urbana, Ill., saw some of it. He commanded an infantry battalion which had been stopped by the German escape drive. The battalion then dug in along a road and took part in the German massacre.

"You could hardly see for the smoke from burning gasoline and oil," said Adams. "But thru the haze I finally saw the Jerries coming. This time it was just like Hollywood. Must have been a battalion of them.

"Came in to Surrender."

"And as they poured over that ridge of freshly plowed soil, our machine gunners in the front line opened up. The Germans went down. Our mortars and artillery were dropping just behind them and at the same time our battle planes were swooping down to strafe them in the open field."

Maj. Jack Rippert, New York City, his executive officer, said that shortly after this massacre a German lieutenant came in under a

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]. — Antwerp, Belgium's great ocean port, which stands 15 miles from the Dutch frontier, was captured yesterday afternoon when three flying columns of British armor converged on the city. Brussels, the capital, already had fallen.

Fast moving allied columns smashed across the Dutch frontier and pushed on to capture Breda, 12 miles beyond the border and 25 miles from the great port of Rotterdam, Netherlands Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy announced last night in a London broadcast.

Other allied forces sweeping across Belgium and France were reported to have reached the German frontier at two points about 100 miles apart—one near Aachen and the other near Perl.

"May Have Reached Rhine."

There were persistent but unconfirmed reports in London last night that the Americans already have driven across the frontier into Germany. An American broadcaster from Paris was quoted as saying American troops have entered Germany and "may have reached the Rhine."

Premier Gerbrandy in his broadcast to the Netherlands said "The hour has struck. Soon the moment will come when the queen will return to your midst."

Gen. Eisenhower in a message broadcast to the Dutch called on them to save docks, factories, and rails of Rotterdam from German demolitions. Eisenhower told the people of Holland, Luxembourg, and Norway "Your day of liberation approaches." He called on the people of Holland and Luxembourg "to serve in the battle."

Thrust in from Malines.

Two of the columns which took Antwerp drove forward after the capture of Brussels—one passed thru Boom, eight miles south of Antwerp. The other drove in from Malines, 15 miles southwest of Antwerp. The third column advanced from Tournai thru Oudenarde, on the east bank of the Scheldt river, capturing Alost en route.

It was on the Scheldt near Oudenarde that the Belgian army was forced to abandon its fight in 1940. A Belgian contingent is now driving forward with allied forces thru regions where in 1914 and 1940 they were hurled back.

The capture of Antwerp completes the encirclement of the Germans in the Pas-de-Calais area and neutralizes the flying bomb coast. Reports that Boulogne and Calais had been captured were characterized here as premature.

[A British radio broadcast said last night that the little town of Waterloo, Belgium, where Napoleon met his downfall in 1815, had been liberated.]

Reported Near Aachen.

There was little concrete news of American operations altho an unconfirmed report said American columns were within artillery range of Aachen, an important bastion of the Siegfried line, two miles east of the Belgian border.

This would put the Americans in the vicinity of Liege near the eastern frontier of Belgium. There was a report that a Free Belgian broadcast had been made from Liege.

United States 1st army tank columns which captured Mons in southern Belgium were known to have reached the area of Charleroi on the Maas river.

Security silence continued to blanket American operations, but it was believed that the British and American onrush had made Belgium and Holland untenable for the Germans.

Patton's Moves a Secret.

Sensational news is expected when the veil of secrecy is lifted from operations of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's American 3d army which is known to have advanced 120 miles in seven days from southeast of Paris to within artillery range of Germany's Rhineland frontier.

Patton's troops yesterday drove the Germans out of part of Pont-a-Mousson, which lies on the Moselle river.

Patton's tanks also swept 12 miles beyond Verdun to take Etain and then continued their eastward drive for the German frontier.

Berlin broadcasters have said since Saturday that allied troops in this area were within 11 miles of the border. It is considered here that the actual allied position probably is far ahead of points officially released at supreme headquarters.

Fan Out from St. Mihiel.

Other 3d army forces in the Nancy area forced another crossing of the Meuse river 10 miles southeast of Commercy at Chalaine. They were fanning out in all directions from the captured town of St. Mihiel.

Fighter-bombers of the United States 9th air force yesterday flew more than 700 sorties over what was described as one of the largest traffic jams in history. Shuttling between Mons and Brussels, they destroyed 919 German trucks, 757 horse drawn vehicles, and 59 armored vehicles.

German trucks and armored cars were so closely jammed together that when the allies caught up to them they overran the fleeing enemy columns. Then the American airmen had to cease bombing in some sectors for fear of hitting their own troops.

210 Miles in a Week.

The British 2d army in a week has advanced more than 210 miles from the Seine to the Scheldt rivers, driving across the Somme, freeing the Belgian capital and maintaining an average speed of nearly 30 miles daily.

This swift advance has cut off and encircled a force of Germans estimated in some quarters to number 100,000. The United States 1st army has taken 120,324 prisoners, supreme headquarters announced last night.

Berlin last night reported "ferocious" battles on an arc covering Boulogne and Calais as British, Canadian, and Polish forces pressed steadily in from the south and east. The Abbeville garrison surrendered to the Canadians and Poles, who are stated to have pushed on 20 miles to Hesdin on the Canche river. They also captured the town of Montreuil, 10 miles northwest of Hesdin.

Few Ships for Escape.

A British column swinging northwestward from Arras was said to be heading for St. Omer, 25 miles from Calais. It was said here that the only possibility of escape remaining to the Germans was evacuation by sea from the Dunkerque area. The Germans, however, have little shipping and in the face of overpowering allied air and sea power they have little chance to get away.

British forces to the southwest, closing in on the port of Le Havre, yesterday delivered an ultimatum to the German commander calling for the surrender of the German garrison, which the latest estimate put at about 5,000 troops. The Germans were told that fortifications protecting the city would be relentlessly bombed unless the Germans gave in promptly.

Le Havre is believed to be the most heavily defended area on the coast, with fortifications even stronger than those of Brest, which is still holding out.

Cut Rail Lines to Channel.

Antwerp's fall cut the last rail lines from the Belgian and French channel coasts to Germany. It is the second largest city in Belgium with a population of 273,000.

German rear guards were stranded all the way back to Abbeville and Compiegne in France and other forces fleeing the robot bomb coast were coralled in western Belgium.

A substantial number of the enemy was enveloped in a triangle formed by St. Quentin, Compiegne, and Soissons, north of Paris.

[The Brussels radio, reporting that the capital was entered with a minimum of short skirmishes, said other transmitters would be operating at Antwerp, Gent, Courtrai, and Liege and Namur—indicating wide advances by both the British and American armies. Liege is less than 25 miles from the Prussian border, well beyond last officially reported American positions.]

British Push Into Lille.

Far to the south the British entered the French industrial city of Lille—population 200,000— and were pounding down the last 25 miles to Dunkerque and the other channel ports of Calais and Boulogne after capturing Aire.

In Brittany, the port of Brest was under unrelenting assault, with bombers under Eisenhower's orders to pound defenses unceasingly until the big garrison surrenders.

MAQUIS MOP UP LAST TRAITORS AT LYON HOTELS

200 Taken; May Face Firing Squads.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LYON, Southern France, Sept. 4.—Lyon is making swift recovery after four years of Nazi occupation and the street fighting of the last few days. The shooting has died away and the last Germans and French milice [militia] and Fascists have been captured or killed. Street cars are running. The President Wilson bridge across the Rhone river was bulwarked and is handling vehicular traffic.

The great welcome to the liberators begun yesterday is continuing and American units and the regular French army forces, as well as the Maquis [patriots], are receiving their ovations. There is much kissing and tippling and cafes are doing a big business at increased prices.

Militiamen to be Shot.

As I watched, several Fascists were marched along by grim patriots. The Maquis' girls walked beside them, hugging their men and brandishing fists at the captives. One enthusiastic patriot shoved a gun in my hand and asked me to join a firing squad. I hastily handed back the weapon and retreated behind my status as a noncombatant.

A Maquis lieutenant said 200 militiamen were captured and about 100 were killed at their guns. Few Germans were left behind when the Nazis swung out of the city in the darkness early yesterday, and those who remained died in the fighting.

The lieutenant said all members of the militia would receive fair trials, then added, with the same sort of shrug another French officer had used in describing a similar situation in Marseille, "Those who resisted us actively will, of course, be shot. As for the more passive collaborationists, who knows? Some may hope to get off with long prison terms."

Plot to Blast Hotel Fails.

Battles with the militiamen had centered in the fashionable Royal and Carleton hotels, west of the Rhone, both of which had been German headquarters and residences for Nazi officers. All windows were broken and there were many bullet and grenade rips in the walls. Some patriots are proudly guarding a German machine gun they had hidden in the lobby of the Royal hotel.

Six months ago, I was told, Maquis crawled thru the sewers in an attempt to dynamite the Carleton but were caught and executed by the Germans before they could accomplish their purpose.

Cafe Moulinavent in the Place Bellecour had been a favorite Nazi eating place and five Maquis hurled a bomb into it a few weeks ago. Several Germans were injured and the five patriots were captured and shot.

The extent of German destruction in Lyon appeared to be the burning of a few storehouses and adjacent homes, the dynamiting of 17 locomotives in the railroad yards, and the blowing up of the bridges over the Rhone and the Saone rivers. Demolition was poorly done at the Wilson bridge across the Rhone and that is why this span is back in use.

Monuments Stand Unharmed.

Religious and cultural monuments were not harmed. Stained glass had been removed several months ago from the great 12th century cathedral of St. Jean, which towers above the Saone. The Palais St. Pierre on the Place des Terreaux and its valuable collection of inscriptions, sculptures, and paintings are intact.

Louis XIV. still rides his horse in Frederic Lemot's famous statue in the Place Bellecour. But around that square and around Place Carnot, west of its statue of the republic and near the Hospice de la Charite, stand many barricades. The gestapo had erected them against the Maquis and there were skirmishes around them yesterday.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO TURKEY MOVED TO BELGIUM, LUXEMBOURG

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP).—Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to Turkey, has been appointed ambassador to Brussels, newly captured capital of Belgium, and minister to the duchy of Luxembourg.

He succeeds Lancelot Oliphant, captured by the Germans in 1940 and exchanged among prisoners in 1941. Members of a supreme headquarters mission to the Belgium government, numbering about 30, already are in France ready to go to Brussels.

Maurice Drummond Peterson, assistant undersecretary of state in the foreign office, was appointed to the Ankara post.

ALLIES PURSUE GERMAN FORCES UP SAONE RIVER

ROME, Sept. 4 (AP). — French and American troops raced northward up both banks of the Saone river tonight in pursuit of German forces fleeing from the great French communications center of Lyon, in which the last enemy resistance had been stilled.

American units, slashing northeastward from France's third largest city in an effort to cut off the retreat of the main Nazi force, occupied Bourg, 35 miles from Lyon. The French, driving up the west bank of the Saone, reached Villefranche, 15 miles north and slightly west of Lyon.

"Only slight contacts were made with the withdrawing enemy," a headquarters announcement said.

Sharp Fight at Montrevel.

Advance Yank elements engaged in a sharp fight with German tank rear guards at Montrevel, 12 miles north of Bourg, and were reported holding half the town.

Allied patrols entered Lyon from three sides yesterday and seized an air field east of the city of 600,000 population, but it was not until today that headquarters said the last German had been killed, captured, or sent fleeing beyond the big silk center.

[Capt. Ludwig Sertorious, German military commentator, said in a Monday broadcast that "this important stage of the big and difficult movement of disengagement is completed. It may be counted a considerable success that the enemy was unable to achieve an encirclement in the area between Lyon and Valence."]

120 Miles from Belfort Gap.

At Montrevel the Germans still faced relentless pursuit for approximately 120 miles before they could escape thru the strategic Belfort gap near the German-Swiss frontier. They were faced with the additional threat of being headed off by other American forces driving east and southeast from Paris. One Yank column last was reported within about 95 miles of Belfort.

Allied planes took a ceaseless toll of withdrawing enemy columns along the highways north of Lyon, leaving hundreds of charred vehicles to mark the flight of the Nazi 19th army.

ENVISAGE COAL RATIONING IN U.S. TO HELP EUROPE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 [Special].—Because most of the supplies to be allocated to liberated countries will have to come from this continent, allied successes in foreign fields may bring coal rationing in American homes and result in continued shortages of shoes, textiles, and paper and pulp products.

A report made public today by the combined production and resources board representing the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom said "now that the allied armies have landed in Europe they will have to provide coal to keep public utilities and railroads operating and to heat homes."

The board, with a promise of a "forthcoming intensification of operations in the far east," reported the industrial capacities of this country and the British empire have combined since "the black days after Dunkerque" to turn out supplies and weapons of war at the "prodigious rate" of nearly four times that of the axis powers.

$302 CANNED GOODS STOLEN.

BELGIAN CABINET AWAITS SIGNAL TO HURRY HOME

Session of Parliament Contemplated Soon.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Belgian government in exile announced today it will return to Brussels at the moment the allied high command gives the word that the way is clear. That is expected before the end of this week.

The Belgian broadcasting service said a Belgian government mission already has arrived in Brussels to carry out relief measures and to prevent mass migration of refugees which would hamper allied military operations.

Belgian currency has been supplied to the allies to cover expenses of the allied troops in Belgium, it was said.

Parliament to Be Called.

A spokesman announced that as soon as possible after the return of Prime Minister H. M. Pierlot and his colleagues, parliament will be recalled. This will be the parliament elected in April, 1939, whose four year tenure was extended by government decree until the end of the present hostilities.

Before parliament convenes it is expected that it will be necessary for the government to issue orders for the maintenance of law and order to assist in the transition back to peace time life. Decrees enforcing these orders already have been prepared, spokesmen said. Upon the parliament's reassembly, the exiled government will submit a report of its stewardship since the nation's collapse in May, 1940.

Cabinet to Resign.

The officials here have tried to plan to meet all exigencies. If King Leopold III., now in German custody, has been liberated, the government will resign immediately to permit the king to reconstitute his cabinet. If, however, the monarch is still a prisoner, parliament probably will be called upon to elect a regent as provided by the Belgian constitution. In that event the prime minister will hand the resignation of his government to the regent.

Only the king or a regent is empowered under the constitution to appoint a new government.

Meanwhile, with the allies rapidly advancing thru Belgium, the Dutch government here was completing plans to return home. Arrangements already have been made for the departure to Holland of a military and civil mission to take temporary charge of the administration of the nation's affairs.

F.D.R. EXPRESSES ADMIRATION FOR BELGIAN PEOPLE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—President Roosevelt said tonight the American people were filled with admiration for the way the Belgian people conducted themselves during the four years the Nazis held them enslaved.

In a statement issued at the White House, the President said:

"Brussels, the capital of another freedom loving people, has been delivered from four terrible years of tyranny—the second such period in a generation. The American people are filled with admiration for the imperturbable conduct of the Belgian people toward the hated invaders and their unswerving devotion to the ideals which they share with the people of the United States and the other united nations."

YANKS PUSH FOE FROM HALF OF MOSELLE TOWN

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MOSELLE RIVER, Sept. 4 (AP).—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's American forces threw the Germans out of the half of Pont-a-Mousson on the west side of the Moselle river today and sent the enemy retreating toward the Lorraine hills five miles beyond the river.

Before withdrawing across the river, which flows thru the heart of this town lying about midway between Metz and Nancy, the enemy blew up the main bridge.

Shelling from Hilltop.

Germans were shelling Pont-a-Mousson from positions atop a high hill on the east side of the river where the enemy established an observation post in the dome of a castle.

Part of Pont-a-Mousson on the west side of the river was in flames.

The Germans fled Pont-a-Mousson at 10 a. m. after an American armored column stormed in, overrunning and destroying columns of vehicles the enemy was making a desperate eleventh-hour attempt to get across the river.

American airmen pounced on a half mile long train of tank cars filled with gasoline for Hitler's forces and when they finished half the train had burned or exploded. The other half was left intact.

Pont-a-Mousson was the first place on the Moselle the Americans have reached substantially, altho patrols have crossed at other points between Metz and Nancy.

2,000 in Argonne Forest.

An estimated 2,000 Germans are hiding out in the Argonne forest west of Verdun, slipping out by night in roving bands to burn and pillage small villages. The entire village of Vouziers in the northwest corner of the forest was burned to the ground early today.

French Forces of the Interior [F. F. I.] and Americans are combing out the woods but the process is slow because of the dense growth which covers the vast area.

An outfit including many doughboys from Pennsylaania chased the Germans across this sector of the front and one organization which took part in the St. Mihiel offensive during World War I. fought across the same battlefield.

"But this time it is not a battle, it's a race," said Capt. E. Coe Kerr, New York.

What a War! Nazi Division Can't Even Choose Captor

ON THE FRENCH-SPANISH BORDER, Sept. 4 (AP).—Frontier reports today told of a "lost division" of the German army, encircled in the Landes department, whose officers surrendered an estimated 11,000 men last night to the French Forces of the Interior after having attempted to hold out until they could surrender to English-American forces.

ORDER ARRESTS OF VICHY CHIEFS FOR AIDING NAZIS

Deat, Doriot and Darnand Among Those Sought.

PARIS, Sept. 4 (AP).—Arrest warrants charging collaboration with the German enemy were issued tonight for Marcel Deat, Vichy labor and "national solidarity" minister, Joseph Darnand, Vichy militia head; Jacques Doriot and Marcel Bucard, political leaders, and a number of others prominent during the Nazi occupation, the justice ministry announced.

Among others named were the Paris radio voices, Jean Paquis and Robert Debeauplan, and Alfonse de Chateaubriant, editor of the newspaper Je Suis Partout.

Stephen Lauzanne, writer on the staff of Le Matin, and Abel Hermant, French academy member, already are arrested, it was said. It is not known where the others are.

Generals Arrested.

Air Force Generals Pinsard and Jaunaud, and Maj. Christian du Jonchet, also have been arrested.

Bucard, said to have been a protege of former Premier Camille Chautemps, headed the Franciste, French rightist party; Doriot led the Partie Populaire Francaise, and Darnand was leader of the Rassemblement National Populaire. Doriot organized an anti-bolshevist brigade in France, and was reported to have served with the Germany army staff in Normandy.

Pierre Boni, Frenchmen whom he said were notorious collaborationists who served the German Gestapo. They were caught, disguised as farmers, 60 miles from Paris. Among hundreds of victims whom these Gestapo aids arrested during the occupation was a niece of De Gaulle. She has not been heard of since.

Seize Laval's Property.

New York, Sept. 4.—All property held by Pierre Laval in the Clermont-Ferrand region of France is being confiscated "for the benefit of the state" under a ruling of the region's commissariat. The Vichy radio, as heard by FCC monitors, reported the action today.

Laval's property in the Clermont region included a 13th and 14th century castle overlooking his native Chatledon near Vichy. Laval was either owner or major stockholder in the important Chatledon mineral springs, with a bottling firm, and of Clermont-Ferrand's leading daily, Le Monitteur.

Report 80 Executed.

BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 4 (AP).—Journal de Geneve reported today that 80 Gestapo agents were executed Saturday in the Haute Savoie region in reprisal for the German massacre of 80 partisans in Lyon.

In 24 hours this one American battalion alone captured 2,400 Germans. Other battalions had been doing the same kind of yeoman work, bringing the total number in prisoner of war cages to well over 5,000 this morning. In addition an armored force has taken more than 3,000 prisoners and they are still coming in.

While officers rode back in command cars or jeeps, their men marched along the road in strange looking columns. Once one column had at its tail a bleary eyed, drunken German, staggering along and trying to keep up with the column. No one paid any attention.

Guarded by Girl.

A small group of five was brought in by an old Frenchman armed with only a milk can. Another column, of 700, had a lieutenant and three soldiers in front, with six members of the French Forces of the Interior helping out along the line. Still another was under guard at the rear by only one pretty F. F. I. girl, who, however, carried her German mauser and machine pistol in a business-like fashion.

There were soldiers in these columns of every description and from every type of unit, marines and sailors, tough SS. [elite guards], and paratropers, youngsters who looked hardly old enough to hold a rifle, and old men.

One officer who had fought in Russia, said after yesterday's combined aerial and ground slaughter that it was worse than anything Russia had produced. It has been only today that the full nature of the German debacle is appearing. Yesterday every one was having his own private fight and it was impossible to bring the whole picture into focus.

Patrol Captures 500.

There was, for example, Maj. Lewis Leeney, Iowa City, Ia. With a reconnaissance party he had gone forward to seek a new location for the corps' command post. Late in the afternoon, after we had opened the road to Mons, I found him and his party resting. Leeney said they had killed 100 Germans and captured 500 more and still hadn't located their new headquarters.

Last night our 105 and 155 mm. howitzers were set up in a position south of Mons. The batteries got no sleep. The Germans tried to come thru and the canoneers picked up their rifles and bazookas. They hit one tank and captured an officer and several Germans in a series of fire fights which again had cut the main road temporarily.

All along this road and along every side road today you see piles of burned out German vehicles and even one Tiger tank. The side roads were particularly cluttered with equipment and German dead were everywhere.

What Shell Does.

"I know now what an anti-tank shell does to a man" said Maj. Rippert. "It cuts him in two. I was behind one of our 37s which had gone into position in a hurry and had only 100 yards' field of fire down a street ending in a brick wall. The Germans started coming over that wall and our gun fired. First with high explosive ammunition and then one armor piercing by mistake. That street looked like hash now.

"Some half-tracks mounting 20 mm. [guns] with tommy gunners inside tried to break thru there, too, but our little gun fired until it got them all."

This entire battle yesterday and last night was like that. Some four tanks and half tracks mounting machine guns were hidden in a little grove along the western side of the main road. Beyond the grove stretched green rolling fields.

"There was a full moon," said Maj. Haynes Dugan, Shreveport, La. "The Germans decided to try to cross those fields. Our boys waited until they were in mid-field and clearly visible in the moonlight when they opened up with everything. You can walk out there a few hundred yards and count a couple of hundred dead. It's an awful mess."

She said she has not yet consulted a Reno attorney. She divorced Arnold R. Mizzy in Chicago five years ago.

Flags Rise in Mons.

Mons itself is a gray, industrial city of coal and iron mines. It looks something like Glasgow, Scotland. But it's streets are filled with Belgium's red, yellow and black; the red, white and blue of the United States and the United Kingdom, and red flags with Russia's hammer and sickle.

Every one is smiling and rushing up to shake hands, trying out a few words of English or pinning Belgium's colors to your blouse.

Streets are lined with cafes and beer parlors. In one tavern, a visitor might have thought himself back in any American neighborhood tavern. Beer was flowing. The barman grinned and cracked jokes and the juke box ground out American swing.

Armed civilians walking the streets of Mons wear armbands of what the Belgian resistance calls its "white army." They, like the F. F. I., have proved valuable sources of information to the army.

Enforce City Curfew.

They, with the Mons police, have been keeping law and order and enforcing a strict curfew as well as seeing that the bars close early and that the black-out is enforced. They are also busy rounding up men and women accused of collaborating too wholeheartedly with the Germans.

Several truckloads of collaborators were turned into a police station today. But the crowds watching from outside the gate appeared less bloodthirsty than did the Paris mobs.

The burgomeister of Mons, who had been a collaborationist, fled with the German troops Saturday afternoon. A new one was appointed this morning by the committee of liberation, with which army civil affairs officers now are working on a coöperative basis.

RIMINI PERILED BY FAST DRIVE OF CANADIANS

Troops Within 7 Miles of Adriatic Port.

ROME, Sept. 4 (AP).—Canadian forces of the 8th army had the Adriatic coastal city of Rimini almost within their grasp tonight after a slashing attack carried them across the Conca river and gave them a solid bridgehead two miles deep within less than seven miles of the important terminus of the Po valley highway.

Capture of Rimini, a main stronghold of the Germans' punctured Gothic line, would place the 8th army on a straight road 60 miles from the industrial city of Bologna. At some points British, Canadian, Polish, and Indian troops had smashed up to 12 miles thru the Gothic defenses.

Swing Around Cattolica.

The Canadian attack which began two days ago sent one strong armored and infantry column straight at Pieve, which was captured. The column then by-passed another enemy strongpoint at Gradare and reached the coastal road, thence swinging around the coastal town of Cattolica to cross the Conca river at a point less than two miles from its source.

A second Canadian column overwhelmed San Giovanni on the Ventena river and raced on to the Conca, which it crossed upstream from the original crossing. Fresh armor quickly was driven between the two flanks to consolidate and exploit the bridgehead, while artillery was planted to begin hammering Rimini's defenses.

The American 5th army continued its drive west of Florence, keeping pace with the 8th's offensive near the Adriatic, and by last midnight Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's doughboys had occupied all high ground dominating an important lateral road running between captured Pisa and Florence.

Yanks Win Chain of Towns.

Captured in the Yank surge were a chain of small towns on the northern fringe of the Arno valley, including Spicchio, Lamporecchio, Stabbia, and Psanate. By-passing the huge mass of Mount Pisano, the Americans advanced more than half way to the road junction of Pistoia.

Both allied armies had to contend with driving rainstorms.

As they tore a 20 mile gap in the Gothic defenses 8th army troops emerged onto the Emilian and Lombard plains, ideal for tank warfare. From their breakthru point they were in position to outflank the remainder of the Gothic defenses.

Waves of the United States Liberator bombers, attempting to close off the main supply and possible escape route for all German forces in northern Italy, blasted several bridges on the Brenner pass line between Bolzano and Verona, and attacked rail yards along the route. Flying Fortresses laid a pattern of explosives on submarines tied up in Genoa harbor, while Mitchell mediums attacked eight bridges in the Milan area.

Uprising of Patriots in N. Italy Reported

New York, Sept. 4 (AP).—The Geneva newspaper La Suisse said today that Italian patriots had staged a general uprising in Liguria, occupying "several districts in Genoa," and had started street fighting in Savona and La Spezia. The dispatch was reported to OWI.

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 3 [Delayed].—While German and allied guns on the heights north and south of Florence are still carrying on a thunderous argument over final possession of the city, officers of the allied military government [AMG] are distributing food to tens of thousands of citizens, brought almost to starvation during the last weeks of German occupation.

Two officers are in charge, Lt. Col. Charles Merall of the British army and Lt. Laurence Hunold, Ripon, Wis., of the United States forces. As German shells crashed into the city less than half a mile away Hunold told how the citizens were being fed.

City Found Without Food.

"When we first arrived in the south section of the city a month ago we found grain supplies exhausted," he said. "Local officials told us the Germans weeks before had blocked all shipments of grain and flour coming from Bologna in the north, which normally provides grain foods for Florence. Since early in July the ration for civilians in Florence has been set at 3.5 ounces of brown bread daily. About July 1 each civilian received two pounds of dried beans; after that, nothing but the bread.

"As soon as we arrived we began allotting 7 ounces of bread daily to each civilian in that part of the city held by the allies. Ammunition and other supplies had priority on the roads, and it was all we could do.

"Beginning Aug. 22 we increased the ration," Hunold explained. "In addition to the daily bread, we allotted each civilian for August two pounds of dried beans, a little more than an ounce of soap, 3.5 ounces of sugar, and a little less than two ounces of powdered soup. Each child and aged person received about 8.8 ounces of milk powder and a tin of meat for a month, and sick persons received two tins of condensed milk and a small tin of meat. We are planning to give each civilian a small additional ration of meat and salt in September."

Hunold said the problem of installing the allied food distribution system was greatly simplified in Italy because the Italians had been subjected to rationing for years under Mussolini. In Florence, as in other liberated cities, each citizen had a ration card issued by the Fascist Italian government.

When the Germans were in power they used the same cards, and now that the allies have taken over they have declared the old cards valid until new ones are available.

U. S. AID QUITS ROME TO TELL ROOSEVELT OF HEALTH PROBLEMS

ROME, Italy, Sept. 4.—Col. William O'Dwyer chief of the allied control commission's economic section, left Rome today for Washington to report President Roosevelt on food, health, and mortality problems in Italy. In July, Rome babies less than a year old were reported dying at the yearly rate of one out of every two. In July last year the rate was 289 per 1,000, compared with a yearly average of 104.7 for 1931-'35. The situation in Rome has caused Col. Charles Poletti's office to divert to infants the milk destined to children from 1 to 5.

HEAR NAZIS PULL OUT OF FINLAND, REDS CEASE WAR

Armistice Halts Firing on 500 Mile Front.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 4 (AP). — Finland's three years of war with Russia ended today, guns of each side, all along the 500 mile front from Viipuri to Salla, subsiding into silence.

[A Moscow broadcast this morning, said that while the Finnish command had ordered its troops to cease fire at 8 a. m., yesterday, the Russian troops had been ordered to suspend hostilities at 8 a. m. today.]

A Finnish source here said the Germans scattered thruout South Finland from Karelia to Helsinki would begin evacuation on Tuesday. He said that about three divisions probably were in southern Finland despite reports of gradual withdrawal.

[The Berlin radio said a Finnish mission of 10 members would leave for Moscow tomorrow to discuss final peace terms.]

North of Salla, where an estimated seven German divisions are holding the front northward to the Barents sea, the situation was obscure. Reports poured into Sweden that the Germans were evacuating voluntarily.

Report Withdrawal Begins.

Unconfirmed press reports here said that for the last 24 hours a stream of German vehicles moved toward Norway, and the principal road in northern Finland had been clogged for two days. The Swedish newspaper Allehanda said Rovaniemi, German headquarters and chief supply center, had been evacuated, and an Oslo report said German authorities directed all hotels in the southern provinces of Norway to close today, indicating these places might be needed for the billeting of troops from Finland.

Two small German steamers left Turku this morning, bearing possibly 800 troops.

Break Formally Declared.

It was presumed that under terms of the negotiated armistice thru which President Carl Gustav Mannerheim was leading his country out of the war, Finnish troops began to fall back to their 1940 border.

A few hours before Mannerheim's government announced the armistice, an official government declaration said diplomatic relations with Germany would be broken, and Germany was told that German troops remaining in Finland after Sept. 15 would be disarmed or interned.

Berlin's Comment Guarded.

In Berlin, Wilhelmstrasse comment was guarded and noncommital. A spokesman bemoaned the discarding by Finland of the "ideal value" of the Finnish-Nazi partnership.

The Swedish government announced it had promised Finland supplies of grain, butter, oils, fat, sugar, herring and salt fish, subject to agreement between Finland and Russia. Other goods are being considered. Finland heretofore has received large amounts of grain and potatoes from Germany.

The Finnish parliament was in secret session tonight.

Russians Bomb Ships.

LONDON, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Russian naval bombers, possibly attacking German ships withdrawing men and supplies from Finland, yesterday sank a Nazi supply ship of 6,000 tons in the Baltic sea and sank a landing barge and damaged two others in the Gulf of Finland, Moscow announced in a midnight bulletin.

PATRIOT POLES GIVE UP BATTLE INSIDE WARSAW

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP).—Polish underground warriors in Warsaw apparently today had given up their struggle against the Germans, withdrawing from the city because of a lack of weapons and food after a 34 day battle.

forces reported that Gen. Bor had abandoned the fight, but later, while insisting that the dispatch was accurate, said "it isn't officially confirmed yet."

tens of thousands of "rebels" were captured in the city.

Patriots' Force Disperses.

Gen. Bor communicated his decision to abandon Warsaw to Gen. Kazimierz Sosnowski, commander in chief of Polish forces here. His message, sent by underground radio, emphasized there was no surrender, but that the patriots were dispersing and leaving the city with the intention of reassembling again as an underground force outside the capital.

Gen. Bor said all of the old city section was left in ruin. He said the center of the capital still is under constant fire of heavy artillery, mortar, and air bombs.

The battle within Warsaw started when the Red army first drove within a few miles of the city. When the Russians did not take the capital in a few days, Bor began appealing for guns and supplies. Moscow disclaimed the uprising, saying it was ordered by the London Poles without coördination with the Red army command.

Charges Reds Block Aid.

Some supplies were dropped by allied planes flying round trip from Italy. The London press reported later that Russia had refused the use of soviet bases for regular shuttle supply service.

Gen. Sosnkowski today issued an order of the day to Gen. Bor's army.

He said Bor had been blamed because he did not foresee a sudden halt of the soviet offensive at the gates of Warsaw and that the Poles were being blamed for a lack of coordination of their uprising with the whole of operational plans in eastern Europe.

"But if needed, we will prove how many times our attempts to achieve such coördination failed completely," said Gen. Sosnkowski.

The commander in chief's statement, issued by the Polish press bureau, said the unavailing struggle inside Warsaw was a "ghastly and tragic riddle" which the Poles were unable to solve, especially in view of the great strength of the allies on the threshold of the sixth year of war.

800 ROMANS SLAIN IN NAZI OCCUPATION; TRIALS PROMISED

ROME, Sept. 4 (AP). — From 800 to 1,000 Romans were shot and killed or beaten to death and more than 1,000 severely injured during Nazi occupation of Rome as a direct result of orders given by the German security command, the allied control commission announced today. All Germans listed on the rolls of command headquarters in the Via Tasso will be held responsible for such brutalities, the commission said. Three in particular were singled out who, the commission pledged, "will be called upon to defend themselves before a court if they ever are found alive and in allied hands."

Heights of savage fury were reached with the reprisal execution of 320 hostages at the Ardeatine caves on the eve of the allied entry into the capital, when the Germans feared risings of patriot groups. The report also said that the Nazis seized the son of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Mario, took him north in May and then sent him to Berlin for safekeeping as a hostage.

The three singled out in the report for swift trial and punishment if caught, were: Obersturmbannfuehrer Herbert Kappler, Obergruppenfuehrer Karl Wolff, and Hauptman von Schutz.

AUSTRIA FACES OCCUPATION BY ALLIED FORCES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Austria as well as Germany is to be occupied by the allies when Germany is defeated, it has been learned here. But the occupation is to be a different kind since it was decided at the Moscow conference, which was attended by United States Secretary of State Hull, that Austria is to be reëstablished as an independent state. The treatment will be designed for rehabilitation rather than punishment.

For this reason, instead of partitioning the country into three zones to be occupied respectively by American, British, and Russian troops, the plan envisaged by the European advisory commission calls for policing of the country as a whole by a blended force.

Economic Problem.

It is assumed that the period of occupation will also be far briefer than that of Germany. The problem is to re-establish Austria as a separate state able to support herself economically. She will not be allowed to unite with Bavaria or any other part of Germany.

Any idea that she might be joined with Hungary in a partial restoration of the Hapsburg empire has been dropped tho there was a time when the state department in Washington seemed to look on it with some favor.

Solution Doubted.

But aside from this insistence that Austria must live alone, her sovereignty will be completely restored. That any permanent solution has been devised of the economic difficulties which made the anschluss [union] with Germany attractive to many Austrians is more doubtful. A mistake of the last peace was admitted to be that it dissolved the Austro-Hungarian empire politically without providing for its continuance in an economic form.

There is no indication yet that this is not to be repeated, altho a spokesman for the Czecholslovakian government in exile recently predicted that his country would be glad to make an economic agreement with Autria.

PUNISHMENT AWAITS SPANIARDS IN NAZIS' RANKS, SAYS MOSCOW

New York, Sept. 4 (AP).—The Moscow radio said tonight in a broadcast to Spain that Lt. Gen. Augustin Munoz Grande and Lt. Gen. Esteban Emilio Infantes y Martin, who commanded Spanish units that fought beside the Germans in Russia, "will not escape the punishment they deserve for their barbaric acts and crimes."

The broadcast said this statement applies also to "all criminals in the ranks of the Blue division, the 250th Spanish division, and the Spanish Legion."

It declared that Gen. Francisco Franco had "showered honors on those responsible," and added: "Such things cannot be forgotten by mere statements of neutrality."

Weekly Instead of Daily Schedule for Nazi Planes

Madrid, Sept. 4 (AP).—German commercial planes to Portugal now are operating on a weekly rather than daily schedule due to the long dangerous hop between Stuttgart and Barcelona, Spain, by night over battle lines and liberated France.

ROBOTS' 80 DAY SIEGE OF BRITAIN BELIEVE ENDED

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Shortly before daybreak today the Germans loosed another barrage of flying bombs at London and southern England, ending a four-day lull in the robot attacks. A terse official announcement acknowledged both casualties and damage were caused by the assault.

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP).—The battle of the robot bombs appeared to be ended in another allied victory tonight—80 days after the announcement that the unmanned projectiles were being sent against England.

With planes now released from defense activities against the flying bombs and their launching sites, assaults on Germany and the German army were expected to be intensified on a vast scale.

Thousands of allied aircraft have been used against the flying bombs, counting the great fleets of heavy and medium bombers, fighter bombers and fighters used in raiding the rocket bomb coast and robot supply depots farther inland.

Following the allied sweep to the flying bomb coast and thru areas believed to contain supply depots, there have been no reports of robots in England since Friday. Only about 370 were sent over during the last week compared with a previous weekly average of 700 and 8,070 in the 80 days.

Some of the million or more evacuees began trickling back to London. The government appealed for the evacuees to stay away, but indications were that a few more bomb free days might turn the trickle into a flood.

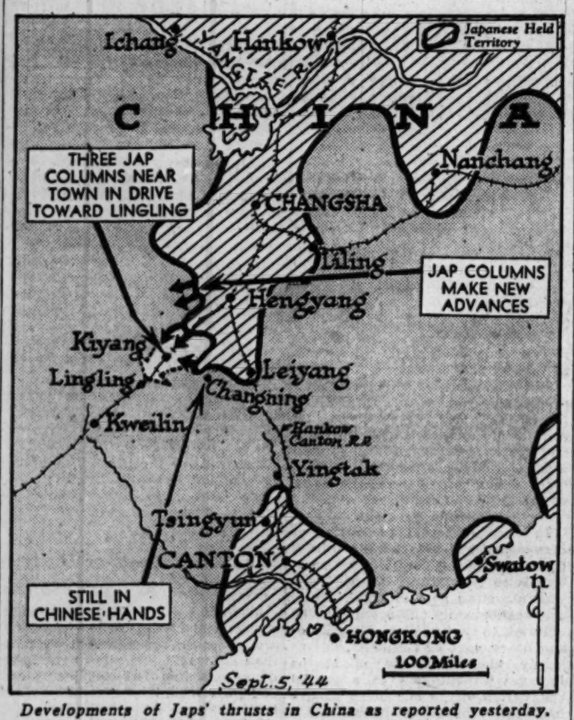
Japs Advance on Coveted Air Base



Developments of Japs' thrusts in China as reported yesterday.

JAPS ADVANCE ON CHINESE AIR BASE IN HUNAN

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 4 (AP).—Japanese spearheads plunging along the trackless stretch of the Hunan-Kwangsi railway are only about 40 miles from the coveted air base at Lingling near the Kwangsi border in a sudden drive which portends a renewed attempt to split China in two, the Chinese high command indicated tonight.

Three columns converged in an arc against the important town of Kiyang, 50 miles southwest of the fallen Canton-Hankow rail junction of Hengyang.

[A German Transocean agency broadcast heard in London last night said that American bombers had raided Nanking. The date was not specified.]

WOUNDED SOLDIERS TO ATTEND REUNION OF FIRST DIVISION

At least 10 soldiers wounded in campaigns in Normandy, Italy, Africa, and Sicily are expected to attend the annual reunion of the Society of the 1st division in Chicago Sept. 17, Police Sgt. Herman Dorf, an officer of the society, said yesterday.

These veterans, he said, all have been returned to this country to recuperate from their wounds. Sgt. Dorf said reservations for the various events on the program are being received from points all over the country. He estimated that 300 guests will attend the reunion banquet at 7 p. m. in Hotel Sherman.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, has invited the members to be his guests at a picnic at Cantigny farm, near Wheaton. He also has arranged free transportation over the Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin line by trains leaving the Quincy st. station at 9:30 a. m. and returning to Chicago at 5 p. m.

During the afternoon wives of the veterans will be entertained by the auxiliary of Cantigny post, American Legion, at a tea in Hotel Sherman.

Reservations for the picnic and dinner should be mailed to Sgt. Dorf at 1430 N. Dearborn pkwy.

U. S. SAYS NAZIS MAY HIDE WITH THEIR PRISONERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—American officials planning administration of defeated Germany said today the Nazis may use their own concentration camps as the first stop on an underground railroad they hope will end at World War III.

Already, it is believed, the Nazis may have put some of their most trusted followers, whose names and faces are not widely known, in prison and torture camps so that occupying allies will think they are anti-Hitler and spare them. These Nazis would attempt to worm their way into allied confidence as persecuted martyrs.

GERMANS' FEAR OF REDS HELD PEACE FACTOR

Fall to Yanks and British Termed Preferable.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Germany will surrender to the United States and Britain, rather than to Russia, in the hope of getting more favorable treatment from the western allies than can be expected from a vengeful minded Russia.

This is the considered conviction in capital military circles. It is felt the western allies may reach Berlin before Oct. 1, and possibly as early as Sept. 15, as the Germans concentrate on holding the Russians and leave open the western road to their capital.

Nazis Reported Divided.

The two allied groups of armies have about the same distance to go in the race for Berlin. The German capital is about 310 miles from the most advanced Red forces and about 330 miles from the advanced units of Lt. Gen. Patton.

For some months it was apparent to the German high command that Nazi defeat was inevitable. The German military machine was handicapped by loss of air superiority, loss of oil—the life blood of modern war—insufficient artillery, and decimation of its man power.

With defeat in the offing, the German high command was faced by these alternatives: To surrender to the Russians or bow in unconditional surrender to the United States and Britain, according to military circles here. The two courses brought a division in the German military command, it was said.

Lean Toward Reds.

The German army leaders—the old Junker group—leaned toward surrender to Russia, it was said here. The army, which never was behind Hitler with the blind devotion of the stormtroopers, felt that under a Red state there would be a need for an army and an important place for its leaders, whereas surrender to the allies would mean disarmament and dissolution of the army class, according to military experts.

The Prussian militarists had fared well under the empire, the republic, and Hitler. They were convinced they could do better under a sovietized state than under a demilitarized state promised by the western allies, military experts said.

Fear of Reds Reported.

On the other hand, the Nazi leaders, with Hitler in the van, fear surrender to the Russians, according to military circles. They are aware the Russians intend to exact a heavy penalty for the ravishment of Russia and the slaughter of the Russian people.

Nazi leaders hope they may be able to enjoy exile thru surrender to the allies, counting on American and British magnanimity toward the conquered and possible division among the allies on peace conditions, it was said.

It was for this reason, according to Washington reports, that Hitler nipped the revolt in the army of officers who favored peace with Russia. Some 50 patriots reportedly were put to death.

THE QUESTION.
What do you plan to do when you retire?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Charlie Spivak, Englewood, N. J.—The way I see it now maybe after we get out of this business I'd like to have a home in California. I'd like to spend the rest of my life in California, possibly working in one of the studios as a music director. I want to live in the country and have a home with a lot of ground.

Irene Daye, vocalist, Lawrence, Mass.—I'd like to live out on the west coast — Beverly Hills — in a small house, nothing too extravagant, and be a housewife. To keep in contact with all the many friends I've made, it would be nice to have a small business on the side where they could drop in and see me.

Jimmy Saunders, vocalist, Philadelphia, Pa.—When I retire from my musical profession I want to get married and have a big family. I intend to live in the country and have riding horses and eventually open up a riding academy. In addition, I want to teach pupils how to sing, understand, and enjoy music.

Fran Ludwig, saxophone, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—I'd like to have a big farm somewhere in North Carolina. I don't want to do the actual farming but just want to live in the country. I'd like to have about 10 kids and bring them all up on the farm so they'd have plenty of outdoor life. In a near-by city I'd own a music studio.

Charles Russo, saxophone, New York City—I'd like to make the San Fernando valley my home. As a source of income I want to own a night club in Hollywood and teach music. I intend to keep on flying, too, and after the war I want to own a plane and have room enough on the Russo ranch to have a landing field.

Dan Vanelli, trumpet, Woodside, New York — At the present time I'm writing a book and I have a yen to go into the business of writing. If my book is successful, I intend to go into the chicken business. I want to do both—write and raise chickens in my leisure time. I'd like to settle down in southern New Jersey.

GIRLS GREET 300 UNKISSED VETS IN FROM SAIPAN

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4 [Special].—More than 300 members of the 2d marine division, veterans of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, and Tinian, were welcomed back to the mainland today for 30 day leaves after two and a half years overseas.

First Sgt. Richard J. Baker of Marquette, Mich., was the first enlisted man to leave the ship. As two women marine reserve sergeants grabbed and kissed him, he shouted back to his tanned and cheering shipmates:

"Worth fighting for, believe me."

Yells of "Whoopee, look at those beautiful women," had come from the vessel's railing a moment before as many of the men glimpsed navy girl chauffeurs waiting on the wharf, the first American women they had seen in two years.

Tinian was the favorite fighting area for Sgt. Harold Lundgren of Chicago, for "those fool Jap officers" made a banzai charge there and he got two sabers and some battle flags out of it.

"I got a few shrapnel wounds in the legs, too," he added, "but I hope to go back after I go home to see the folks."

Pvt. Earl Medford of Morgantown, W. Va., was so glad to see San Francisco that he looked out over the bay and remarked:

"Gee, even old Alcatraz looks good."

LYON'S CARDINAL ASSAILS NAZIS' MURDER OF 87

LYON, France, Sept. 4 (AP).—Lyon's atrocity murder of 87 Jews and Catholics in a dynamited house Aug. 24 after hours of torture drew a strong letter of protest from Cardinal Pierre-Marie Gerlier, archbishop of Lyon, to Col. Knap, who was chief of the German Gestapo here, it was disclosed today.

"Those responsible for this are dishonored forever in the eyes of humanity; may God forgive them," the cardinal wrote, after viewing what he called the "most revolting scene" and "abominable cruelty" in all his 64 years.

The 87 men—50 of them Jews—were taken from the Fort Montluc Gestapo prison by the Germans and Jacques Doriot's collaborationist police and tortured by having nails driven thru their hands, feet, and chins. Then they were shot. After many wounde dhad been locked inside, the house was blown up.

C. D. MacDougall Arrested for Handbill Violation

Curtis D. MacDougall, 41, of 537 Judson av., Evanston, Democratic candidate for congress from the 10th district, was arrested last night in Lake Forest for distributing political handbills. Also arrested were Harrison Hayford, 28, of 827 Elmwood av. dr., Evanston, and Merrell R. Davis, 31, of 2131½ Ridge av., Evanston, who were with MacDougall. All were booked for violation of a Lake Forest ordinance prohibiting such distribution.

Nazis Prepare to Quit Denmark, Stockholm Says

LONDON, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Germans are preparing to evacuate Denmark, the Stockholm radio said today. It reported they were burning documents in Copenhagen and that all German women and children had been ordered to leave by Friday.

BRITAIN IS TOLD IT MUST NOT LET U. S. DICTATE

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP).—Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite member of Parliament, said today in an address at Bo'ness, Scotland, that "in dealing with post-war problems one thing must not happen—we must not allow ourselves to mold our policy under the dictation of the United States but must stand on our own feet." He said Britain should cooperate with the United States and other countries in the post-war period "but we are quite capable of making our contribution in the solution of post-war problems."

NOTE—From time to time, in this space, there will appear an article which we hope will be of interest to our fellow Americans. This is number fifty-nine of a series.

SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK

When Johnny and Jane Come Marching Home!

From our company, Schenley Distillers Corporation, and its several affiliates, about fifteen hundred employees have gone to war. When they come back to resume their normal peacetime activities, we, like other American businesses, will provide them with re-employment. Of course, we are obligated to employ them for a year after their return. But, as we see it, there are a lot of "humanics" in this business. So we have set up some very interesting self-imposed rules and regulations about our conduct towards those who assist us in conducting our business.

In doing so, we are taking what we believe is a forward step. War unquestionably does something to those who participate in it. This "something" is frequently—for better or for worse. We are going to do everything humanly possible to help the men—yes, and women too—who have left us temporarily for the more important job of winning this war, to adjust themselves properly to civilian pursuits when they return. We are going to be very careful in finding the right jobs for them in our various organizations—where they can be happiest in their work and most efficient for themselves and for us—where they won't be "miscast."

Perhaps in the beginning, when they came to us, we weren't always too careful in placing them in the right niche. Maybe John Doe ought never to have been a salesman. Perhaps he would have done much better in the accounting department, or vice versa. Anyway, we're going to be reasonably sure about it in the future

We don't think there is anything better that we can do to repay a debt we owe to those who have been fighting for us, than to help provide for them a fair measure of happiness and future security—after they have marched in the victory parades.

N. Y. BUILDS VAST NEW FIELD IN BID FOR AIR TRAVEL

Two of 12 Runways Will Be 10,000 Feet Long.

BY FRANK STURDY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 4.—An enormous airport is taking shape at Jamaica bay on the south shore of Long Island. Now resembling a sandy, desert waste, it will be, when completed, as far as can be foretold now, the largest airport in the world.

New York will use this air terminal in the competition of post-war air travel supremacy, in an effort to maintain in the air the advantage over inland cities afforded by its port facilities for trans-Atlantic shipping. Chicago, with an airport the airlines predict will be outgrown within five years after the war, has an impressive bundle of super-airport schemes, but so far, nothing concrete with which to outbid New York.

Pumped by Great Dredges.

The project is no cheap effort. When completed, the airport will have 4,057 acres, about 80 per cent sand fill pumped from Jamaica bay by great dredges. In what is known as the first stage of development, the land, six runways, and an elaborate terminal building of five or six stories will cost about 50 million dollars.

Looking over the site is a stunning experience. The boundaries seem limitless, the drab, sandy waste measuring three and a half miles east and west and two to two and a half miles north and south. Grading scrapers weighing as much as 100,000 pounds lumber ponderously in the distance, their size dwarfed by the flat expanse of sand. Thirty of them soon will be gouging the surface for the grading of three runways. Contracts for these will be let within the next few weeks.

Huge Parking Lot.

The plan calls for 12 runways, of which six are to be built in the first stage. Two of them will be 10,000 feet long, the others 8,200, 7,500, 6,500, and 6,000. All of them will be of concrete 12 inches thick, capable of supporting 300,000 pound airplanes, and 200 feet wide.

The central loading apron and terminal area will be nearly a mile long, and include 306 acres. It will contain the terminal building, with about seven wings jutting out like spokes for air line ticket offices, plane loading, and a parking area for three to four thousand cars. Each of the wings will be 1,000 feet or more long. Already the vast size of the airport is creating its own peculiar problems.

Financial Arrangements.

John D. McGoldrick, comptroller of the city of New York, is arranging for financing the airport, and is now negotiating lease arrangements with the airlines.

McGoldrick says the project is to be made selfliquidating. The construction will be paid for by sale of bonds, of which 13 million dollars worth already have been marketed at one and three quarters per cent interest. The city will want an airport income of 2 million dollars a year for interest and amortization, and an estimated 1 million dollars for maintenance and payrolls. Part of it will come from the airlines, the remainder from concessions. Two groups of oil companies are competing for fuel sale right. Each already has deposited a check for $3,750,000 for a 10 year contract.

Heavy Traffic Expected.

Whatever share the air lines eventually pay, the field will be entirely theirs. Traffic in the air is expected to be so heavy that the city plans to limit use of the port to scheduled air lines. Civilian pilots will have to find another landing place.

Means of transportation to the site is a vexing problem as in the case of most large cities. Idlewild, as it is now called—an official name has not been chosen—is 13½ miles from the air lines terminal on 42d st. in Manhattan. It now takes 35 to 45 minutes to make the trip by automobile. City planners say this will be reduced when Van Wyck blvd., leading to the airport from Queens blvd., is widened to six lanes for a distance of about 3½ miles, McGoldrick estimates. This will cost between three and four millions.

Getting the field and air lines employes to and from the airport will be a big transportation job in itself, aside from the question of moving thousands of passengers. Within 10 years the air lines estimate they will have about 40,000 employes there.

Connecting Spur.

There is some fear among air lines engineers that present estimates of travel time are optimistic, and that an hour may be required when civilians are again able to buy autos and gasoline freely and congest the roads. One possible solution exists in a branch of the Long Island railroad, lying about a mile and a half north, from which a connecting spur might be laid. Officials say alternate routes will be supplied if road congestion occurs, so that in no case will driving time be allowed to exceed about 25 to 30 minutes.

When the field will be completed is uncertain, but McGoldrick believes the first stage can be finished by the spring of 1946. This portion involves some astonishing figures.

Dredging and filling took 41 million cubic yards of sand. The six runways measure nine miles, taxiways, 5.6 miles. The runways, taxiways, and central loading apron will require 1,500,000 yards of concrete, and hangar aprons, 30,000 square yards each.

The air lines estimate that 600,000 to 700,000 gallons of gasoline will be consumed at the airport daily, and that storage facilities for 8 million gallons will be needed.

Charge to Sightseers.

Thousands of sightseers are expected to throng the port's observation deck on the Terminal building, paying the same 10 cent charge in vogue at New York airport. Restaurant, bar, and concessions for a variety of shops will further swell the annual income. There is talk of the possibility of a small hotel.

The capacity of the first six runways will be 120 plane movements, 60 landings and 60 take-offs, an hour at peak load, the same as Chicago's present airport. There will be no comparison between the two on the score of passenger terminal and public facilities however, despite the project to construct a new terminal at Chicago.

Idlewild's terminal building, it is estimated, will cost $7,500,000. Cost of Chicago's terminal project now is estimated in the vicinity of $1,500,000.

Recently an air lines engineering committee recommended to the Chicago plan commission that the Douglas airport near Park Ridge be chosen for post-war expansion into a super-airport of the general proportions and facilities of Idlewild. So far, no action has been taken on the proposal, and there is no plan for financing.

WATCHMAN SHOT BY GUNMAN GETS GIFTS OF BLOOD

Blood transfusions were being administered by surgeons at St. Anthony's hospital in an effort to save the life of Frank Meyer, 65, of 1631 N. Cicero av., a watchman who was shot and critically wounded early yesterday by one of three burglars whom he surprised in the offices of the National Gas and Oil Sales company, 2529 W. 25th st. Meyer was shot in the stomach and struck on the head with a revolver after he had emptied his revolver at the trio, who had gained entrance to the building by breaking a window. The gunmen fled without attempting to open a vault containing ration coupons.

BRITISH EMPIRE URGED AS MODEL OF WORLD STATE

LONDON, Sept. 4 (AP).—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, proposed the British empire as a pattern for a world organization built on the federal principle in an article published today in the "Monthly Message" of the Royal Society of St. George.

"Application of the federal principle which the British commonwealth of nations has provided," the article said, "might well be applicable with little change to a world organization of all nations.

"There would not, of course, be loyalty to a monarch, but there might well be substituted for it loyalty to a definite statement of ideals and principles."

CHICAGO AIR TRAVEL BREAKS RECORDS FOR AUGUST AND 8 MONTHS

Air lines' passengers arriving at or departing from Chicago airport totaled 550,043 in the first eight months of 1944, Public Works Commissioner Hewitt announced yesterday. This figure shows a gain of 20.3 per cent over the previous record for eight months, established in 1941.

The passenger total of 98,028 for August was the largest for one month since the airport was established in 1928, Hewitt said.

Scheduled flights during the first eight months of 1944 totaled 33,521, more than 4,000 fewer than the 37,597 scheduled flights of the corresponding portion of 1941.

Nonscheduled planes totaling 41,817 arrived at or departed from the airport between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31 this year. They were largely military and naval craft.

L. W. NEDERKORN CITED BY ARMY AS TRAINING AID

Leonard W. Nederkorn, former Chicago designer, architect, painter, and sculptor, has been awarded a citation of merit for his work in establishing and operating the visual aid section of the army's service forces training center at Flora, Miss. The presentation was made by Brig. Gen. H. R. Kutz, chief of the ordnance military training service.

L. W. Nederkorn.

Nederkorn was appointed to start the section in October, 1942. Previously he had established training methods for the navy, the army air forces, and the ordnance department. While at Hull House here in 1939 he was put in charge of WPA craft projects in Illinois, thru which 12,000 persons were trained.

Nederkorn was born in Germany. He came to the United States in 1928 and settled in Chicago, where he designed industrial and scientific equipment. With his wife and two daughters he now lives in Jackson, Miss.

Joe figures he's still in the fight

Joe was an Illinois Central fireman before he put on a G. I. helmet and waded ashore on a foreign beach. That's where he picked up the reason for the medical discharge that brought him back to us.

Joe didn't want to be shipped home. He wanted to stay with his outfit. But now that he's back on the job as a fireman again, he feels better about it. Particularly when he looks back over a long string of oil cars. Because Joe has seen oil in action. He knows what it—and other war freight—means to men at the front.

That's why Joe figures he's still in the fight. Next to shooting a gun, he can't think of any job more important than the one he's doing.

Joe has figured out something else, too. He understands that railroad work will be equally important when peace comes again . . . that railroad progress will make many opportunities for thousands of fine young men and women now serving Uncle Sam.

With the help of our people in the armed forces and our 43,000 other Illinois Central folks at home, one of these days the war will be won. Until then, our main concern is victory. After that, all we have learned during the war years will be turned to account in improving Illinois Central service. We want to keep on earning your good will.

CITY WILL MARK 157TH BIRTHDAY OF CONSTITUTION

Signing to Be Portrayed on Theater of Air.

Historically accurate portrayal of the signing of the United States Constitution on Sept. 17, 1787, will be one of the highlights of Chicago's observance of the 157th anniversary of this event in the city's Constitution day program on Sept. 16.

Because Constitution day falls on Sunday this year, the anniversary will be observed on the preceding Saturday when the Chicago Theater of the Air program broadcast over Station W-G-N and the Mutual network will be devoted entirely to Constitution day. Part of the broadcast will be an address on the Constitution by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE.

Leaders Will Speak.

Gov. Green and other Republican leaders will be speakers on the program following presentation of the Constitution signing and the address of Col. McCormick. The program will be presented in Medinah Temple, where 4,500 will be able to see it, while thousands more listen in on W-G-N and Mutual network stations.

Music for the program will be provided by the W-G-N orchestra under the direction of Henry Weber. A selected cast of W-G-N players will portray Washington, Franklin and the other founding fathers who labored nearly four months to perfect the document that has guided the nation thru a century and a half of development.

Research Insures Accuracy.

Frank P. Schreiber, manager of W-G-N, said extensive research has been carried out to insure accuracy in the presentation of the men taking leading parts in forging the nation's governmental foundation and the words they uttered at the completion of their task.

Forty-two delegates from 12 of the 13 states met on May 25, 1787, in Philadelphia after four years of disheartening results under the Articles of Confederation. Washington was named as their presiding officer by such men as Benjamin Franklin, Gouverneur Morris, Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, James Wilson and Roger Sherman.

Thru the hot summer they labored with little rest. Conflicting views were compromised. Finally a document was designed that gained the approval and signatures of 39 of the 47 delegates. Franklin announced as he left the hall after the final meeting, "You have a Republic if you can keep it."

Observance at Two Luncheons.

The Lawyers Committee to Defend the Constitution will hold a luncheon on Sept. 16 as an additional part of Chicago's observance of Constitution day. Charles O. Rundall, committee chairman, said a speaker of national prominence will address the luncheon meeting.

Another observance of Constitution day will be the luncheon to be held Sept. 15 by the Illinois society, Sons of the American Revolution. Alonzo Newton Benn, president of the society, announced that Stephen E. Hurley, president of the Chicago Bar association, will address the society in the West room of the Central Y. M. C. A.

U. S. RESUMES MAIL SERVICE TO N. FRANCE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—The United States resumed at least limited postal service to northern French provinces today—after an interruption caused by Nazi occupation.

Postmaster General Walker said that effective immediately nonillustrated postcards in English or French, on personal or family matters, will be accepted for delivery to civilians in these places [the army takes care of delivering to its own personnel, of course]:

Cully, cantons of Douvres, Bayeux, Ryes, Tilly, Caen, Balleroy, Trevieres, and Isigny-sur-Mer in the department of Calvados, as well as cantons north of and including St. Malo-de-la-Lande, St. Sauveur-Landelin, Coutances, St. Jean-de-Daye, Periers, and St. Clair-sur-l'Elle in the department of Manche.

The cost of the postcards will be 3 cents, the same as was in effect Dec. 4, 1942, when service was suspended.

G.I.'S JOIN WACS FOR HIKING AT FORT SHERIDAN

Soldiers and WACs at Fort Sheridan have organized a hiking club to visit forest preserves and other points of interest on the north shore Sunday afternoons. The military personnel who don't get enough walking thru the week requested Capt. Otto K. Jonas, a chaplain, to drum up interest in the organization. A story in the Fort Sheridan Tower, post newspaper, brought an enthusiastic response from post civilian employes, as well as service personnel. The hikes are looked upon, an army release says, "as an ideal way to keep in good physical condition."

CHICAGO MARINE RESCUED AFTER JAPS TRAP HIM

Praises Corpsman in Saipan Battle.

Marine Sgt. William A. Smialek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Smialek, of 2415 N. Marmora av., who is receiving treatment in the United States Naval hospital, Oakland, Cal., spent only a few hours on Saipan before his amphibious tractor received a direct hit by a Japanese artillery shell, but he was there long enough to learn the value of corpsmen in battle.

Sgt. W. A. Smialek.

Describing his landing on the then Jap-held island, Sgt. Smialek said: "I was firing the tank machine gun, picking off snipers as we advanced. Suddenly a .20 mm. Jap artillery shell plowed thru the side of the tank and shrapnel struck me in the left foot and ankle. I tried to get out of the tank, but every time I opened the hatch, snipers fired at me.

"Finally a corpsman came and helped me back to the beach under heavy fire. It took a lot of nerve for him to come and get me and help me back with all those bullets and chunks of shrapnel flying around. Later, I learned, he was wounded helping another marine. That corpsman was really a brave fellow."

Lt. Robert M. Price of 1612 Adams st. is one of five Chicagoans among 13 Illinois men in the 8th air force awarded the distinguished flying cross, a war department announcement disclosed yesterday. The other Chicagoans so honored are Staff Sergeants Donald E. Schaeffer, 6339 N. Rockwell st., Sol J. Schatz, 611 Patterson av., and Norman F. Swain, 4203 S. Talman av., and Technical Sgt. Clifford E. Swanson, 3001 S. Keeler av. Also named in the announcement were Lt. Walter R. Snedden, 635 S. 24th av., Bellwood, and Staff Sgt. Robert E. Georgen, 2684 River terr., River Grove.

Lt. Robert M. Price.

Mrs. Karolyn Quinlan of 5316 Wayne av. said yesterday that she has been notified that her husband, Lt. William F. Quinlan, 28, was killed in France on June 23. He previously had been reported missing. Lt. Quinlan, who graduated from St. Thomas Military academy, St. Paul, Minn., enlisted in the army in February, 1940. He is survived, besides his widow, by a daughter, Patricia; his mother, Kathryn, and three sisters and a brother. Memorial services will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday in St. Ita's church, at Broadway and Catalpa av.

INDIAN PAPERS TAKE UP ROW OVER PHILLIPS

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 4 (AP).—The Bombay Chronicle said today "it appears that in one way or another India will soon figure rather prominently in Anglo-American politics."

The comment was typical of the Indian papers which based their lead news stories on former United States Ambassador Phillips' letter to President Roosevelt on the India situation, as quoted in Washington by Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.].

Included in the stories were what Chandler described as an official telegram from Olaf Caroe of the British department of external affairs in New Delhi to the secretary of state for India in London declaring Phillips was unwelcome in India.

Also included were denials by Ambassador Halifax, British envoy to Washington, and by the United States state department that the British government had requested Phillips' withdrawal or had made representations that he was persona non grata.

In the letter to Mr. Roosevelt, Phillips was quoted as saying "it is high time they [the British] should make an effort to improve conditions and reëstablish confidence among the Indian people."

The Times of India took exception to Phillips' alleged remark that the British intend to give no more than "token assistance" in defeating Japan. The paper recalled Adm. Louis Mountbatten's latest report on fighting on the Indian frontier in which he said the British 14th army had killed 42,000 Japanese, "thereby inflicting on the enemy what is probably their biggest land defeat in this war."

Casimir J. Gorny Named as State Grain Inspector

Gov. Green announced the appointment yesterday of Casimir J. Gorny as chief state grain inspector. He is Republican committeeman in the 32d ward and a prominent leader among Polish veterans of World War I. The position pays $4,300 a year. Gorny succeeds the late John J. McKeone of the 40th ward, who died in January.

German Guns on Channel Lash England 45 Minutes

FOLKESTONE, England, Sept. 5 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The big German guns at Cap Gris Nez and in Calais sector loosed a 45 minute bombardment of England this morning. British guns took up the challenge and the countryside rocked as shells screamed both ways thru the high wind across the misty straits of Dover.

GREEN TO START CAMPAIGN RADIO SERIES TONIGHT

2 G. O. P. Teams Ready for Downstate Tours.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.

The Republican state ticket, headed by Gov. Green, nominee for reelection, and Richard J. Lyons, his running mate for senator, will open its intensive drive for Nov. 7 votes today. While the governor inaugurates a new series of radio appearances, the other state candidates will start an intensive four weeks' tour of downstate Illinois.

War time activities and post-war plans of his state administration will be discussed by Gov. Green in a broadcast from 7:30 to 8 p. m. over W-G-N and 15 downstate radio stations. The program, "Tuesday Nights at the Mansion," will be a weekly feature from Springfield for nine Tuesday nights.

Labor Leaders Also to Speak.

Participating with Gov. Green tonight will be John C. Hennenberger, local 1006, United Steel Workers of America [CIO]; Louis Rodier, president of the Springfield Building and Construction Trades union [AFL]; Hugh White, acting president, United Mine Workers of America, district 12, Springfield; Lloyd Thrush, president, Progressive Mine Workers of America, Springfield, and Richard Abrahams, legislative representative, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Lyons will head one of two Republican caravans which will cover all of Illinois.

His first speech will be made at Carlinville at 4 p. m., to be followed by evening meetings at Alton and Edwardsville. Lyons will be accompanied by Sen. Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, nominee for secretary of state, and Conrad F. Becker of Red Bud, running for state treasurer.

Cross Heads Another Group.

Meanwhile another Republican group—Lt. Gov. Cross, Auditor Lueder, and Atty. Gen. Barrett, all running for reëlection—will appear at Vandalia, Fairfield, and Mount Vernon.

Both caravans will work southward during the week and will cover "Little Egypt." Gov. Green, with Sen. Searcy of Springfield, running for Supreme court clerk, will appear with the Lyons caravan at Belleville Wednesday evening. All Republican candidates will join forces at the Du Quoin fairground Friday.

John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, spoke at a Labor day picnic sponsored by the candidate for sheriff, Leo Carr, in Kolze's park, Irving Park rd. and Narragansett av. Dempsey also appeared at an outing of the 38th ward organization of Frank M. Kalteux.

Moline Soldier Is Dead After Scuffle in Camp

Orangeburg, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP).—The public relations office at Camp Shanks announced the death today of Pvt. Leo P. de Graeve, 22, of 413½ 15th st., Moline, Ill., of injuries suffered while wrestling yesterday in the army barracks. T/5 Austin A. Lightfoot of Bokchito, Okla., was held by camp authorities pending outcome of an investigation, the office said, adding that it appeared the two men were in a friendly scuffle and that death, from a blood clot, apparently was accidental.

BOTH COURTNEY AND KELLY MISS CAMPAIGN RALLY

But State's Attorney Speaks at Another.

Mayor Kelly and State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic nominee for governor, failed to make scheduled appearances yesterday at the Labor day celebration of the Thornton township regular Democratic organization at 175th and Halsted sts., but Sheriff Michael Mulcahy, nominee for reëlection, urged all 400 of the faithful who attended to vote the straight Democratic ticket.

Courtney, meanwhile, was making a speech to 400 other Democrats in Twin City park, Waukegan, which gave rise to the suspicion that maybe he hadn't intended to go to the Thornton township picnic anyway.

Promises to Halve Sales Tax.

The Waukegan meeting was sponsored by the Lake county Democratic central committee, of which Jack E. Bairstow, Waukegan attorney, is chairman.

In response to a question from the audience, Courtney charged Gov. Green, to whom he referred as "Candidate Green," with failing to keep a promise to repeal the sales tax and took a more conservative stand himself by promising, if elected, to repeal half of it.

He also asserted that the state should intervene in labor problems "only when necessity requires intervention," and said the state's aid to labor "should be determined by the need, and it must not go beyond the need in applying the remedy."

Three Other Nominees Appear.

Ald. Kelis [28th] of Chicago, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, introduced three other Democratic nominees for state offices. They were Casimir Griglik, candidate for Supreme court clerk; Curtis D. MacDougall, Northwestern university professor who wants to represent the 10th Illinois district in congress, and Sveinbjorn Johnson, candidate for attorney general.

NEGRO SOLDIERS BACK IN CAMP AFTER WRANGLE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4 (AP).—Most of 1,100 Negro soldiers who came to Springfield from Camp Ellis Saturday night to spend the week-end were returned last night to the camp after disturbances among Negro soldiers and Negro civilians yesterday in the southeastern section of the city.

Maj. W. G. Mee of the army district internal security division made no public comment, but city police and county deputies said approximately 200 soldiers and 100 civilians were involved in a series of altercations. Military police arrested about 20 soldiers. One soldier and one civilian, neither seriously injured, were treated in hospitals.

Horace Palmer, assistant police chief, said insufficient overnight housing facilities for the unexpectedly large group of soldiers may have led to the disturbances.

SEIZED IN HOME AFTER 7 HOUR POLICE BARRAGE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4 (AP).—Sam Blair, 35, barricaded himself in the bathroom of his home today and fought off police seven hours with a rifle and two shotguns before he surrendered after tear gas was fired into the room.

Police Chief Tierney said more than 50 shots were exchanged. He said Mrs. Blair summoned police after Blair threatened to commit suicide, and detectives were greeted by gunfire. An armored police car was maneuvered onto the lawn in front of the house and tear gas forced Blair's surrender.

Detective Roy Coffee was wounded in the wrist and right leg by shotgun fire. Blair, a live stock counter in South St. Paul, was held without charge pending investigation.

TRUMAN PLEDGES F.D.R. PROTECTION OF COMMON MAN

Profits Second, He Says in Michigan Speech.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4 (AP).—Sen. Truman stumped in Michigan today for the fourth term, promising crowds of Labor day celebrants that President Roosevelt, if reelected, would keep faith with the "common man."

An estimated 25,000 to 30,000 persons in downtown Detroit's Cadillac square also heard a pledge from the Missourian that the Democratic party would "put human welfare first and profits second" in the reconversion job after the war.

Can't Take a Chance.

Sen. Truman, candidate for Vice President, raced between Detroit and Pontiac, a 30 mile stretch, to deliver speeches before holiday crowds in a manner suggesting that the Democrats' political drum beating was in full swing.

With sirens screaming, a police motorcycle escort paced the senator's motor caravan to and from Pontiac, where he told an outdoor gathering of several hundred citizens that the "absolute salvation of this country" depended on Mr. Roosevelt's reelection.

"We can't take a chance on inexperienced leadership," Truman said in attacking the Republican candidacy of Gov. Dewey of New York.

Back to 40 Hour Week.

The Democrats, Truman said, promise to avoid what he termed the mistakes of the last post-war period when, he said, the government sold war plants "at a pittance" at the insistence of "big business" trying to "strangle out all new competition."

"We shall not, for the sake of price and profit, restrict our output of the good things of life," Truman said. "Rather, for the sake of our people, we shall return to the 40 hour work week and increase basic wages in terms of actual purchasing power—that is, we will enable labor to buy and use an ever increasing amount of the good things of life."

PEACE PARLEY IS AGREED ON SEVERAL POINTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—British, American and Russian delegates planning a world security organization at Dumbarton Oaks, have reached tentative agreement on several points, which they have referred to their respective capitals for approval, it was learned today.

A complete draft of recommendations remains to be drawn up, but an official conference source said he thought that could be accomplished by the end of this week.

He indicated a possibility that the chiefs of the three delegations may hold a second press conference tomorrow to report on progress made since they announced agreement on the broad outlines of the security organization early last week.

Most progress has been made in planning the council and assembly of the future peace agency, it was learned, while the question of international force still needs ironing out.

Extinguish 3 Downtown Fires with Hand Pumps

Firemen used hand pumps to extinguish three fires in downtown buildings yesterday. One burned the drapes on a 12th floor window at 190 N. State st., one made a hole in a shoe store awning at 6 N. Michigan av., and the third was started in the display window of a millinery store at 64 E. Lake st. Acting Chief Oliver Patton of the 1st fire battalion said none of the blazes caused serious damage.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

Sept. 4, 1944.

A RAT at the farm made a very serious mistake recently. As a rule little attention is paid to these beady eyed, long tailed marauders, as farmers are resigned to considering them a part of the farm's live stock. Let them make a show of themselves, however, and the trouble begins.

One of the farm women was in the chicken yard scattering scratch feed for the poultry. The birds flocked about her as she threw a handful of grain about a foot from the foundation of one of the chicken houses. As she watched, a big brown rat shot out from underneath the house, grabbed a chicken by the leg, and pulled it back into the foundation. When the bird was rescued a few minutes later it was dead.

Spread Rodent Poison.

An hour after this incident took place the men began to bait all of the chicken houses with red squill, an effective rodent poison. The squill harms animals of the rodent family only, so it is safe to scatter around in profuse amounts. The poison is expected to put quite a crimp in rat forays for some time to come.

Warning has come from authoritative sources that the common midwest practice of pasturing cattle in woods when grass is gone is dangerous and costly. Almost every year the cattle at the Wheaton farm spend some time grazing the woods.

One of the head foresters of the Quebec, Canada, department of agriculture, and the extension forester at Purdue university in Indiana have warned that cattle or horses turned into the woods eat young seedlings and trample the soil, causing it to dry out rapidly.

Pays to Purchase Feed.

In a dry year, when farmers are most tempted to turn their stock into the woods, the damage created is especially heavy, the experts assert. Timber and soil injuries are suffered with only a few hours of feeding. It is better, the experts maintain, to buy a few wagon loads of feed than to let farm stock browse woodlots.

Experience at the farm tends to prove this theory. The men have found that cattle left in the woods for more than a week are likely to cause considerable damage. Sheep turned out in one woodlot browsed off everything they could reach by standing on their hind legs. If cattle are to be pastured in woods, they must be left there for only a short time and should be watched carefully to prevent permanent injury to the trees and shrubs.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

GARDENERS who recall the sight of corn ears hanging from farm barn rafters may be tempted to try a similar program of saving seed for next year's planting. If so, they should make sure that the ears they plan to save are standard, open pollinated varieties rather than hybrids.

Gardeners growing open pollinated varieties such as Golden Bantam, Evergreen, and Country Gentleman can save some of this year's ears for curing as next season's seed stock. If the varieties being grown in the garden this season are hybrids such as Golden Cross, Surprise, Bancross, or Marcross, the seed should not be saved, because if planted next season the ears will lack vigor and uniformity.

The production of hybrid sweet corn, like hybrid field corn, is a scientific process involving detasseling and the cross-breeding of specific strains. The first generation seed from such crosses produces a uniform crop, but succeeding generations from the seed are almost valueless.

BOMBER GUNNER SPEAKS AT WAR SHOW TONIGHT

Staff Sgt. Carl H. Piirainen, a B-24 gunner credited with 64 missions over China and holder of the distinguished flying cross, the air medal, and the Purple Heart, will speak tonight at the "Shot from the Sky" exhibit in Grant park.

Attendance at the show on Labor day was approximately a half million.

The show is a display of captured aerial equipment. Its four purposes are to recruit man power for critical needs, to sell war bonds, to create incentive for war work, and to create interest in recruiting for the women's army corps. Since the show opened 150 workers have signed up with the Douglas Aircraft corporation and 3,000 applications have taken referrals to civil service jobs, officials said.

Sale of bonds yesterday exceeded $30,000. Among purchasers was Elden Benge of 1945 Morse av., an employe of W-G-N, who bought a $1,000 bond with an Italian rifle and a $200 bond for his twin sons, Donald and Ronald. With the smaller bond went a Jap gas mask and a helmet.

Enough Turkeys Raised for Even Civilian Feasts

A record 35,666,000 turkeys, 8 per cent more than last year and 4 per cent above the previous record crop of 1940, will be raised this year, the department of agriculture has announced. A shortage for civilians is not expected despite a set aside order to insure holiday dinners for the army overseas.

25 Driven from Homes by Near North Side Fire

Twenty-five Negroes were routed from their apartments on the third floor of a building at 414 Oak st. yesterday by a fire that caused damage estimated at $500.

GOV. GREEN STATES THE ISSUE.

Gov. Green and Sen. Brooks fixed the principal issue of the national campaign in Illinois and the whole west in their speeches before the recent convention of the Illinois department of the American Legion at Springfield. That issue is the effort of the Communists to achieve their admitted aim of destroying the American system of government and substituting in its place a bloody tyranny such as American soldiers are dying in Europe to defeat.

Sidney Hillman is the issue and his political action committee. As Gov. Green said, the Communists have had "the brazen gall to affiliate with one of our major political parties and publicly raise tremendous funds to place their candidates in office." The Communists have done more than affiliate with the Democratic party. They have taken it over. With the checkoff blackjack furnished them by Roosevelt's war labor board they are raising a tremendous slush fund to put over the fourth term and to buy the defeat of every member of congress who has the courage and patriotism to defend his nation against their planned betrayal.

Mr. Roosevelt no longer runs the New Deal. He is as much a prisoner of the Communists as are Boss Kelly, Boss Hague, and the bewildered Bourbons of the solid south. The old line bosses of the party recognize that the poll tax Democrats of the south and the slot machine Democrats of the north have not the power left in them to carry a national election. Their only hope of victory lies in the votes that Hillman and his Communist aids hope to regiment thru the discipline and coercion of the CIO unions.

The Communists who run those unions and run Hillman know this as well as do the Democratic bosses. The price of their aid is the continuance and expansion of the position within the administration from which they work ceaselessly for the destruction of the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and American freedom.

"You must utterly destroy communism, the greatest danger of all," said Gov. Green. "Without its destruction there can be no Constitutional government, no payment of an imperative debt to veterans, no opportunity, no enterprise, no tolerance, and no equality. You must stamp out communism, obliterate it so unmercifully and so thoroly from our economic structure and from the very councils of our government that never again will it dare rear its head against the happiness and security of the American people."

That is the first and most important issue of this campaign. It is more important than the issue of internationalism.

We know that the plans to enmesh the American people in a world state or a new Holy Alliance, such as apparently is being plotted at Dumbarton Oaks, can weaken this nation, destroy its sovereignty, and eventually destroy it. Against such betrayal there are, however, further defenses. American commitment to permanent engagement in European power politics can be repudiated by the people at any time. They have the right and the duty to repudiate it if it is imposed upon them thru an executive agreement, the newly rediscovered Roosevelt formula for international political trickery.

But if the Communists continue their boring from within the administration, as they are now carrying it on with Roosevelt's benison, the destruction of America will not be eventual but immediate. They are openly pledged to treason and the treason only awaits the accumulation of power necessary to execute it.

THE STATE AMENDMENT.

Illinois voters this November will decide whether or not the state constitution shall be amended to permit county treasurers and sheriffs to succeed themselves in office. The proposed amendment was approved in the last session of the legislature with the active support of the state sheriffs' and treasurers' associations.

It is too bad that the people who drafted the amendment were prevailed upon to lump sheriffs and treasurers together, so that ratification of the amendment would remove the restriction from both offices. If sheriffs were allowed to succeed themselves, they might become better law enforcement officers thru the experience of successive terms, and the police work in rural communities would improve. Illinois, however, has had too many experiences with corruptible and dishonest county treasurers to allow any more leeway in that office. Where the man handling the county's money can succeed himself indefinitely, he has too great an opportunity to cover up defalcations and irregularities in his books, and for that reason, the amendment offered on the ballot this fall must be defeated.

A THREAT TO THE WAR FUND.

Mr. Roosevelt, whose Communist supporters have already raised one large slush fund for him out of the checkoff that his war labor board has awarded them in the CIO unions that they control, is now trying to help them muscle in on the charitable contributions of the nation.

His war relief control board, reversing a previous decision, certified the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee committee to share in the national war fund. This is the fund supporting the U. S. O. and all war fund raising agencies except the Red Cross. With local charities it conducts the Community Fund drive in Chicago and other cities thruout the country. Before the so-called refugee committee can share in the receipts of the drive, it must be accepted by the national war fund itself. This has not been done as yet and action is not expected on the question in time to affect this year's collection.

The Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee committee is a Communist organization. It was refused certification by the President's control board once before, on the ground that it was engaged in Communist propaganda. Earlier it was discredited by its conduct of a so-called relief drive for Spain, when it was discovered that a large proportion of the collections weren't going to Spanish relief, but were being used for Red propaganda in this country.

The Communists are fully as dishonest in financial matters as they are in political matters. Whatever funds they get their hands on, including the funds of unions that they control, they use to finance their own traitorous activities against the American government. The inclusion of an organization which they openly control in the national war fund would be an intolerable affront to every patriotic American.

If such a situation comes about, decent citizens will face a painful dilemma. They will want to support legitimate war agencies and local charities as generously as they have in past Community Chest drives, but will be able to do so only by giving part of their money to finance the betrayal of their country.

The only acceptable escape from the dilemma would be to ignore the Community Chest solicitation and to make individual contributions to such deserving war agencies as the U. S. O. and to reputable local charities. This would be a high price to pay. It would nullify the whole useful machinery of unified fund raising as set up in the Community Chest drive. It would result in many small but useful agencies being ignored. It would undoubtedly result in a much lower total of contributions to all organizations.

Any such outcome as this must be prevented. The war fund can and must prevent it by ignoring the President's attempt to let his Communist followers impose on the charitable people of the nation behind a screen of respectable organizations.

THE NEW DEALERS GRAB SOME PENSIONS.

Congressional sources in Washington have disclosed how President Roosevelt has provided life time pensions for lame duck New Deal congressmen repudiated and retired by the people. These servants of the President are being pensioned from the public treasury despite the fact that congress repealed by a vote of 387 to 7 its own ill advised attempt to pension its membership. Congress voted this repealer because public opinion was outraged at the pension grab, but that did not stop Mr. Roosevelt from rewarding his friends thru the use of his appointive power and the employment of a trick clause in the civil service retirement act.

The deals have been made in such stealth that the name of only one pensioned New Dealer has been disclosed, but one report says that 39 ousted Democrats have been pensioned. Because Mr. Roosevelt can distribute this largess to any retired congressman who reaches the age of 62, its value as a political weapon in an election year is enormous.

The method is simple. Mr. Roosevelt appoints the deserving lame duck to an administrative post covered by the civil service act. The appointee need serve only one day, during which 5 per cent of his salary is deducted for the retirement benefit fund. Then he resigns and applies for a pension. The law says that a person retiring from an administrative post may be credited for all his years of service previously rendered the government if his salary came from appropriated funds. The lame duck thus draws a pension for all his years in congress, altho he contributed no money from his $10,000 a year congressional salary to the retirement fund. There is no statute of limitations and the pensioner may have been retired from congress as long as 10 or more years ago. One Missouri Democrat, defeated in 1942, is drawing $150 a month pension after 60 days' service as assistant to the war food administrator.

Here is another example of Mr. Roosevelt's defiance of the will and intent of congress. He tried to get congress to pass a Communist inspired measure limiting all salaries in America to $25,000 a year. Congress refused; so Mr. Roosevelt trotted out his war power to stabilize wages and had his suffragan, Mr. Byrnes, issue an order putting a $25,000 ceiling on salaries as of Jan. 1, 1943. A couple of months later, the outraged members of congress, determined to halt government by executive decree and return it to law and to the people, passed a bill repealing that ukase. Mr. Roosevelt had to let this bill become law without his signature because it also authorized an increase in the national debt from 125 to 210 billion dollars, but he sent a nasty and ill-tempered message to congress because of what the members had done.

Mr. Roosevelt, thru his attorney general, has allowed the CIO's political action committee to wring hundreds of thousands of dollars from working men and women and use those funds illegally to influence political campaigns altho congress sought to prevent such practices. Time after time congress has refused to appropriate funds for Mr. Roosevelt's collectivist projects, only to have him by-pass congress and finance the activity out of funds intended for other purposes.

Congress ought to know what to do about the lame duck pension steal, and it has a precedent for action in the rebuke it delivered to Mr. Roosevelt when it revoked his salary limitation order. The people can finish off the job at the polls in November.

SPEAKING OF MOONS.

You may have noticed the admirable specimen of full moon that brightened the nights of the Labor day week-end. It has no name in Anglo-American folklore, but it deserves one. Since this is grape-picking time in wine-making regions, it should be called the vintage moon. We toss off this suggestion to the newspapers of Sonoma and Napa counties, California, which ought to be able to round up the viticulturists and chambers of commerce and put the name into the American language.

The only moons that have folklorish names are to be found on the lunar batting order immediately after the vintage moon. The harvest moon, which inspires song writers, cartoonists, and entertainment committee chairmen, will shine in its complete beauty, unless curtained by clouds, on Oct. 2. The hunter's moon, chiefly worshiped by duck shooters, will be visible, we hope, on Oct. 31. The rules under which these moons are so designated are: Harvest moon, first full moon closest to the date of the autumnal equinox [Sept. 23]; hunter's moon, its successor.

Myth makers have not done well by the moon, when full or otherwise, to our way of thinking. They have associated it with insanity, inconstancy, highway robbery, smuggling, illicit distilling, misspent time, broken vows, unanswered prayers, and unfulfilled desires. The goddesses of the moon imagined by the ancients were, in general, unwholesome ladies. Chaste Diana, the heavenly huntress, was about the only winsome figure in this supernatural gallery.

* * *

The moon is the most beautiful object that rides the heavens, so far as human vision is concerned. The sun may be an enjoyable spectacle to eagles, but mankind avoids staring at it and thus saves its optic nerves. Luna's loveliness is easy on the eyes, yet how do we reward her for the fine show? We speak of moonshine when we mean nonsense, and a moon-calf when we mean an idiot—and we also chuckle over a comic strip character named Moon Mullins.

THE LIGHTS GO ON AGAIN.

"All over Europe now the lights go out,"
Five years ago an old man bowed his head,
"And in our time it will not come about
That they will shine again," he sadly said.
As day by day and week by week there spread
The numbing tidings of the grim advance
Of Nazi hordes, more dismal grew the dread,
And doubt, and fear—had Freedom lost her chance?

But Russians held the lines at Stalingrad,
And Rommel's men turned back at Alamein.
The ships of air and sea gave all they had;
From beachheads armies wheel across the plain.
On all horizons glows again the light;
May future ages keep it always bright.

Ferdinand Plays Romeo.

"And what are you so unhappy about?" I asked Ferdinand, my silver tabby cat.

"William Shakespeare," he admitted gloomily.

"The man has been dead well over 300 years," I protested.

"I know, I know. But the melody lingers on. See this lump on my rump?"

"Arthritis, I presume," I clucked sympathetically.

"In a pig's eye. That, my girl, is the complete works of W. Shakespeare, unexpurgated edition."

"How can you tell?"

"Nothing else could have such a kick to it, even when heaved 50 feet from an upstairs bedroom window."

"So that's what the Man of the House threw. The poor boy . . . his insomnia, you know."

"O, sure, sure, his insomnia. But what about my, er, wound? Besides imagine my embarrassment. There we were in the mock orange blossom bushes, the redhead and I. A perfect night, a full moon, and suddenly I find myself bursting into 'Milkman, Keep Those Bottles Quiet.' Then, when I had her attention, I was just drifting into 'Besame Mucho' when, socko . . . Shakespeare. It's enough to make one lose his faith in mankind."

"I'm terribly sorry," I apologized. "Is there anything I can do?"

"Would you mind donating your heavy volumes to the book campaign? And hereafter, my girl, if we must be intelligent, leave us please be satisfied with vest pocket editions."

THE MARABOU'S MISSION.

(A Brookfield ballad.)

Of all the storks in every land
The marabou, I understand,
Is much the largest that is known
And dwells in Africa alone.
As Mother Nature works her will
It warms the heart to see her skill,
For in that land where storks abound
The hippopotamus is found:
Since baby hippos weigh a ton,
It should be plain to any one
If storks must bring such babies, too,
It really takes a marabou! Quizzicuss.

A learned doctor, speaking before a convention of chiropodists, treacherously revealed that the so-called shapely legs of women were merely distorted muscles caused by wearing high heels. Almost simultaneously, a Chicago burlesque theater discontinued leg shows. Hig.

To answer scoffers who say that the Grass lake lotus blossoms [Aug. 31] are yellow, not white, and offer color photographs to prove it:

When in new bloom they are white with the palest possible yellow tinge. They turn a brighter yellow as they age. See "Wild Flowers," by Homer D. House [Macmillan, 1935], plate 55. This color plate shows a blossom that certainly should be called white.

Mrs. A. H. writes: "Is it permissible to send a razor as a Christmas gift to a navy man overseas?"

Yes, but sharp pointed or sharp edged instruments, such as razors, must have their points or edge protected so they cannot cut thru their coverings and damage other mail or injure postal employes. We have a bulletin which contains complete information on Christmas mailing which interested readers may have by sending in a stamped addressed envelope.

Mrs. D. E. inquires: "Can you give me any information on the restrictions imposed by the Japanese government on letters to American soldiers held captive by that country?"

The Japanese government limits letters to such prisoners to 24 words. The new air mail letter card which is obtainable at local post offices can be used. That type of communication facilitates and expedites mail to persons detained or interned by the enemy.

FEET HURT? DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT.

OUR pedal extremities are forced to accept a large amount of punishment. Ordinarily, the foot is extremely flexible. It consists of an intricate arrangement of bones, muscles, and tendons, and is provided with two powerful springs—the arches. One extends lengthwise from the heel to the toes; the other, across the ball.

Unfortunately, we disregard this region of our anatomy when it gives us no trouble. There are literally millions of our fellow citizens, however, who are miserable and unhappy. They cannot get about with comfort and the tendency is to blame the shoe manufacturer. The fact of the matter is that not only are the parts out of balance but many will develop corns, bunions, ingrowing nails, calluses, and rigid toes. Pain from these areas may spread all over the body, centering chiefly in the legs. A patient may become convinced that he is the victim of a nervous disorder, when the correction of a "splay" foot will relieve both nerve and muscle strain.

Why does this come about? Nature intended that we should go barefooted or, at least, employ only a light leather covering [moccasins]. The American Indian is a great walker. But oblige him to travel on cement sidewalks or concrete highways and he would give up in disgust within a day or two.

"Fallen arches" is a common complaint. It is the gradual collapse of normal contours, due to weakening and stretching of the supporting structures. The condition is likely to develop subsequent to a prolonged illness wherein muscles waste away and atrophy. During the convelescent period, the custom is to wear felt slippers which give little if any support. In consequence, the weight of the skeleton will increase the damage. This is an added argument for taking plenty of time to get well, particularly from childhood diseases.

It would be a wonderful thing if we could have two or more well fitting pairs of shoes, so that a change could be made each day. Rubber heels are of real value in minimizing shock to the spine. Needless to say, footgear must fit properly. If too short, we will be bound to encounter ingrowing nails, transverse arch difficulty, and bunions.

Assuming that pain is experienced, few cases will be helped by putting something inside the shoe. A skilled orthopedic surgeon, who is not interested in using the knife, will be required to restore balance. Otherwise muscle tension will become worse. This means that the victim will shun walking, which is our best form of exercise. Help should be sought when discomfort first appears. In most instances, soreness will be centered at the base of the toes, the so-called metatarsal region. A slight but proper correction will remedy the situation promptly. But let distress continue, and cure may be long delayed.

Good hygiene must not be forgotten. This includes the daily bath, gentle massage, and the employment of dusting powder. Yes, our "dogs" will get tired. This is to be expected. But if symptoms are observed following minor activity, investigation is in order. The best professional skill is the cheapest in the long run. It is so unnecessary to go thru life a foot cripple.

HAIR CUTS.

J. W. writes: I have heard that in order to keep the hair growing, the ends should be clipped every so often because they split. How often should this be done?

REPLY.

Growth stems from the follicles within the scalp. The ends can be fluted or tasseled without the slightest harm. Nothing is to be gained by shingling or singeing.

CHILLY.

Mrs. R. writes: With the beginning of autumn, I feel the cold so much that I am miserable. Are there any foods I can take to make me warmer?

REPLY.

Heat producing edibles are fats and sugars. Glucose acts quickly. At any rate, you can follow a balanced diet. After the daily bath, give the skin a rubdown with some vegetable oil.

CAN BE NONORGANIC.

F. I. writes: When a person has a heart murmur, is it always due to a leaking valve?

REPLY.

Unless it is functional. Murmurs can be heard in a perfectly sound heart if the circulation is below par.

Financial Outlook.

There are some, those who carp at everything all the time, who say inflation is flooding in on us, but don't you believe it. It may be lurking around in war time, but that old post-war and the returning soldiers are going to take care of that. We base this authoritative tone on two authoritative reports from our global encircling of the moment.

One deals with the G. I. mattress covers. These are pretty little bed ticking affairs for which the soldier who inadvertently eats his is charged 69 cents. One of our fair skinned spies in Africa writes that gentlemen of the air forces stationed along the ATC route in Africa now are selling these for $20 to the Arabs. Of course, the cunning Arabs cut them up for dress or burnoose material and make a profit of around $65 on the deal, but that is no business of ours.

The other report came from a young officer in the army quartermaster division who is just back from one of those little islands in the South Pacific. He realized one day that he had $150 left in the till which he did not know how to spend. If spent at all, the money must be spent on the men in the company, and there was nothing on which to spend it. His dilemma was grievous, and, as he was considering it, word came from some officers on a neighboring island that they had put their pennies together and bought an ice cream freezer. "If you wish it," they told him, "we will fly ice cream to you at 50 cents a pint."

The quartermaster officer was greatly pleased at this. Many a day he had sat around in the 120 degree heat and heard the men of his outfit mutter, wistfully, "I'd give $5 for a taste of good old American ice cream!" "I'd give anything for just one teaspoon of ice cream!" and so on.

So he summoned his men together. "Men," he said, "we have $150 in the safe that I don't have a thing to spend on. It belongs to us, but under the articles of war I can't divide it, we can't even play craps with it. It has to be spent on something for the general good."

With that he proceeded to tell them of their neighbors' ice cream enterprise. How about spending that $150, a bit at a time, for ice cream at 50 cents a pint?

As he talked, hungry smiles brightened the faces of many of the men. Others licked their lips. Then up from the back row spoke one whom the officer took to be a practical jokester. "What!" this person cried. "Fifty cents a pint for ice cream? Why, that's a gyp!"

The company was stunned into silence. Then another, good old American business acumen brisk in his voice, chimed in, "You're right, bud! That's too much."

The officer, thoroly undone, said hesitantly that it was up to them. He'd go out of the room. They then could take a vote and decide the matter for themselves.

He did. The vote was no. The $150 is still in the safe.

X Plus Y Equals . . .

Any one seeing a soldier walk down Michigan avenue in his bare feet would think him out of his head, but the mere civilian would think any one seeing a soldier walk across a French field in his bare feet would give him the benefit of the doubt. That just shows how wrong civilians are about everything.

From a lady we know, a Red Cross worker in France, came word that an American soldier actually did lose his shoes in an air raid there. His commanding officer gave him a pass to get out beyond the lines to the nearest supply station and get a new pair. The boy hitchhiked a ride on an ambulance.

In time the ambulance reached its destination and unloaded its patients. The boy was automatically tagged as a patient. When he protested, he was tagged as a mental case. He protested again, wildly, saying that he had lost his shoes and had come back to find another pair. He was given gentle but firm treatment and carted away.

At last reports he had received shelter and treatment in [1] a first aid station, [2] a field hospital, and [3] an evacuation hospital. At the latter point he was given a pair of shoes, but put to bed.

SOLVING EUROPE'S PROBLEMS FIRST.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—While the governments of Russia and of Great Britain are becoming more and more frankly nationalistic, this nation spreads its protective wings over the entire world in a benevolent plan to feed, clothe, and educate all the people of all the nations of the globe.

That we shall have to give a good deal of assistance to those nations in which the civilian population has suffered greatly is a foregone conclusion. The American people are willing to provide food to those who are in danger of starving. We are accustomed to helping those who are in distress.

To undertake to provide jobs and education for the peoples of other nations is an entirely different matter. The citizens of every large city in the United States are aware that great parts of their cities are slums. Great masses of "poor whites" in the south as well as hundreds of thousands of Negroes are undernourished and underhoused. Educational facilities need to be greatly enlarged and improved upon in this country.

To make any plans for the general improvement of living conditions of natives of other countries while millions of our own are tragically underprivileged is a criminal offense against our own children of this and future generations.

PUNISHMENT FOR THE GERMANS.

Oak Park, Ill., Aug. 30.—Apropos your editorial in today's issue and particularly the reference to proper disposition of Germany when they shall have succumbed to the inevitable, I can think of no greater punishment than handing her over to the New Deal dynasty who could start from scratch and proceed with their objectives unopposed.

On the other hand, this closer proximity ought to satisfy the communistic ideals of Stalin, the socialistic tendencies of the German people, and the plans and hopes of the international bankers and Anglophiles. This, in turn, would leave those of us who still believe in the principles which have made us the outstanding nation in the world, to commence lifting the mortgage accrued from the crack-pot theories which the New Dealers have imposed on us and everybody should be happy.

Why doesn't some one tell them that a fellow named Dewey is running for President.

IN DEFENSE OF ENGLISH MANSIONS.

Mooseheart, Ill., Aug. 31.—I read with interest and sorrow the criticism of the film "The White Cliffs of Dover," by C. B. Jones in your issue of Aug. 30. As an English refugee now enjoying the hospitality of America—who owns what remains of a 300 year old house blitzed by Adolf Hitler [who killed my neighbors] and from which I could see the white cliffs of Dover—I think Mr. Jones' criticism of the film can best be described in his own words—i. e. "a lot of tripe."

Mr. Jones says he "lived in England for a while so can talk with some knowledge of the facts." I don't know the circles in which Mr. Jones moved, but I can assure him that the picture of the mansion is no exaggeration. I have many friends who were living in similar homes when I left England four years ago. Maybe taxation has altered the manner of living now, but it won't have altered the mansions. Mr. Jones is in error when he says, "the Englishman is a lord." His knowledge of England should have told him Sir John Ashworth was no such thing—he was a baronet—which is by no means a lord.

Having been a yearly visitor—sometimes twice yearly—to America over a long period of time, I can laugh at my country's idosyncrasies, such as our money not being on the decimal system, that we drive on the left hand side of the road, that our food is not as good as in America, that our coffee is dreadful [and so is your tea in those little bags], and that we like to open our windows and get fresh air. Fresh air fiends are by no means indigenous to England as I can testify by the numerous colds I have contracted whilst here, owing to open windows.

All the many letters I receive from England speak in such eulogistic terms of the American soldiers, sailors, and air men who are being entertained in many homes like that depicted in "The White Cliffs of Dover." They have created a wonderful impression which has helped to cement the good feeling between our two countries. Therefore I beg to join issue with Mr. Jones when he says, "these trumped-up misrepresentations of English life will meet with loud laughter when the boys come home."

MRS. PHYLLIS ROBSON.

THE WACS LIKE US, TOO.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Traveling on orders from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific with a delay en route has given me a chance to see Chicago.

I have only had a day here, but the generosity of the people of this great American city to those of us in uniform has made it impossible for me to leave without trying somehow to express my thanks.

Chicago has everything, and it goes out of its way to offer us everything, and each one of us who has been or will be here in uniform, I am sure, is deeply grateful.

Roll of Service Men Marrying Abroad Grows

Long-term attachments, unique in this war, are lengthening the marriage roll of American soldiers and sailors to Australian, New Zealand, and Icelandic girls.

Correspondents of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at these outposts made surveys of the number of marriages, the reasons for marrying, and the success of these ventures. This is what they found on the numbers:

Nearly 10,000 Australian girls have married American soldiers since they started arriving in large numbers early in 1942. Already 1,000 of these war brides and 200 babies have come to the United States.

In New Zealand 760 Americans have married native girls and not one of the marriages has cracked up to date. Sixty-three of the brides have been granted visas to come to this country and more than 300 others have applied for transportation.

Even bleak Iceland has offered its share of romance for Americans. Seventy members of our forces there have married native girls, most of whom have come to this country to live with their parents-in-law until the war is over.

Doughboys married in Australia have confessed in many instances to a change of heart since leaving America. They were a long way from home, many of them for the first time. They were lonely, and they were taken into Australian homes and virtually made members of families. Nothing was considered too good for them because their behavior was exemplary. A number who intended to settle in Australia after the war thought it better to marry and introduce their wives to their families back home before returning to Australia.

Most of the girls have only a hazy idea of where they are going but do not seem to care. One said, "I am marrying the man, not any part of his country." Not a few base their conception of American life on the movies.

Many men lived a whole year in New Zealand and the great popularity of marines and navy personnel led to the formation of the closest links with New Zealand homes. The result was a mounting wave of marriages with younger New Zealand girls and the creation of a permanent American community.

A check thru a cross-section of these wives showed that few married because of the glamor of the United States, that many felt Americans were superior in wooing and their attitude toward women, and that none plan to work when they come to the United States.

Mrs. Eileen Olwyn Juull, 23, wife of Petty Officer Leonard E. Juull, 5238 Hutchinson st., Chicago, said she will leave New Zealand to come to Chicago with her husband as soon as he is sent back here. She met Juull in July, 1942, and they were married Jan. 12, 1943.

Dulcie Mary Michaelski was married to Marine Corp. Leo L. Michaelski of Riverdale, Ill., in New Zealand after they had known each other a year. She will come to America as soon as permission is granted. After the war the Michaelskis plan to return to New Zealand.

Jean Leek, 22, expects her husband, Marine Lt. W. Leek of Pontiac, Ill., to resume his real estate business after the war. She has an 8 week old son, Warren, whom his father hasn't seen. Zita Rozak, 22, a tall, attractive brunette, is the wife of Marine Pvt. Edward Rozak of Hamtramck, Mich. They have a 4 month old son, Edward Jr. She said she plans first to get to know her husband's folks, then to play games. "Think of all the sports they have there," she said.

Why so many Americans have married girls in foreign countries is explained by persons in positions to observe the happiness of the partnerships. They say the number of failures is only fractional and predict a continuing boom in the matrimonial market.

Mrs. Ed. S., Chicago—I did some of my own papering this summer and I used a garden sprayer to size walls and ceilings. It was a lot faster and easier than a brush, and I found it very satisfactory.

Georgia S., Oshkosh, Wis.—For some time I've been folding my sheets in fourths when I take them from the line and then running an iron over their top quarters, where hem will be turned back. The rest of the sheet gets smoothed a little this way, too, and sheet looks quite presentable. This makes for easier work these war days when I'm doing all my own laundering.

Mrs. Ted A., Springfield, Ill.—If you have a tot in the house who is just beginning to walk and who finds door keys of great interest, tie the keys to door knob with a strong cord until the baby gets old enough to "let things alone."

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 4.—Latest report from the unofficial war correspondent, David Niven, who forgot to mention that he had just been made a colonel—and who, when he comes back to the films, should write as well as act: "Sorry I haven't been exactly swamping you with letters, but as you can imagine, what with one thing and another, we in the army have lately been quite busy! . . . I have seen many of your friends since I last wrote. Ernest Hemingway is in fine fettle and is accredited to the R. A. F., incidentally. . . . With his air force blue battle dress, the scars from his recent motor accident, and that great mane which he fondly believes passes for a beard, he looks as tho Santa Claus had crash landed his sleigh on an aerodrome and had just been issued survivor's clothes. . . . 'Tola' Litvak is here, just back from Russia and full of interesting stories of his visit there. I gather that after seeing his film, 'The Battle of Russia' the local Wardour st. boys of Moscow practically drowned him in vodka—what a wonderful death! . . . Over here we are knee deep in top ranking Hollywood directors. John Ford and George Stevens are somewhere on the continent, but altho I searched every pile of rubble in Cherbourg, I never found them.

Reunion in London.

"Garson Kanin, who directed Ginger and myself in 'Bachelor Mother' about 150 years ago, is in London," writes Niven, "presenting a very brave front to the buzz bombs. . . . The other night he went to see the ballet which, incidentally, is still packed for every performance. He was sitting watching when a bomb flew right along the roof and, after looking in at the window, finally went off somewhere down the street with a tremendous bang. The whole place rocked. Garson turned to an elderly woman sitting next to him and said, 'Gosh! That was too damned close.' The E. W. never took her eyes off the stage and just said, 'Shhhhh!!' . . . I will resist the temptation of being a bomb bore about these things and merely say that while nobody in his right mind could pretend he does not loathe them, the same holds good as it did all thru the bad days of '40 and '41—there is no such thing as a really bad blitz until it knocks your own house down.

London Still Carries On.

"London has soon got into its stride, now that it knows what is expected of it," continues Niven, "and life goes on very much the same, punctuated perhaps by several quick trips each day to the nearest gutter. . . . You meet a very nice class of people in these gutters, I find. Yesterday at one moment my feet were resting on the head of an American general while my face was being licked by a duchess' pekinese. . . . To the casual observer, the London theaters have behaved pretty poorly about the buzz bombs, and most of the shows have closed. Obviously, managements cannot be expected to operate at a loss forever, but there does seem to have been very little effort made to keep afloat. Those of us who are still in the services cannot help feeling rather disappointed at this exhibition of our colleagues. . . . No profession has been so pampered by the ministry of labour during this war as the theater, and nowhere has there been such a boom. Surely a little give and take among managements, theater owners, actors, musicians, and above all, the government, would have resulted in a more inspiring example.

Notes from France.

"By the way, do you remember John McClain who used to work on the New York Post before he went to Hollywood?" goes on Niven. "I met him again in a ditch near Carentan about a month ago. There is a bridge there which always seems to be shelled and we were waiting for a chance to cross it. . . . Later we found a wonderful little inn called 'Les Trois Cent Hommes' at Quettot, one of those backwaters the battle has bypassed. The proprietress gave us a sensational lunch and then topped off the meal by producing a bottle of benedictine which we dug up out of the garden where it had been since June, 1940. . . . Incidentally, don't listen to anybody who tells you differently—the French in Normandy are being absolutely wonderful and, God knows, they are going thru hell. . . . How different it is being a real soldier and not far from the enemy, compared to the good old days on the back lot at the Goldwyn studios complete with a plentiful supply of 'doubles'! . . . Jimmy Stewart spent his last leave at our cottage near Windsor. He was in great shape but seemed a little tired. He soon got over that, however, when I put him to work in the garden. I made him mow the lawn and spray the black fly off the broad beans, the green fly off the roses, and the fleas off the dog. It was typical of him that we had to wait for the Sunday papers before we learned that he had just been awarded the D. F. C.—he just hadn't thought it worth mentioning.

Hands Across the Atlantic.

"I have nothing much to report on our pet subject—Anglo-American relations," Niven concluded. "I feel very happy about them myself. The presence of so many thousands of your boys over here over a long period has brought about the one thing that was needed—personal contact. . . . So it's quite simple. Two decent people who were acquainted have got to know each other better and have become friends. All we have to do now is to see that they remain friends for life. This should be easy once everybody relaxes a little more and stops trying either to reform or to soft soap the other. . . . I don't have to tell you how I long to get back to my little house in California and to get on with my job. If the war lasts much longer, I shall be in open competition to Aubrey Smith."

Thru the Looking Glass

With Labor day a memory, many a woman thinks now about the fall permanent.

Want some advice from us—free?

Start today to get your hair in such shape that it will take that permanent with complete success.

You can't expect any permanent wave, no matter how much you pay for it, to be a corrective or even a camouflage of all your hair ills. That's the way most of us figure the thing, but it's entirely wrong. Your wave will be no more successful than your hair is healthy. If your hair is stringy and sheenless, if your scalp is tight and scaly, you could make money betting against yourself and on the failure of your permanent.

If, on the other hand, your hair is as healthy as possible, your permanent's chances of being a failure are cut practically to zero.

Start now on a daily scalp routine. And get out your hair brush. The scalp that is tight and thin needs plenty of exercise. Professional treatments help, but you can do wonders in your own home if you just use firm fingers, rotating and lifting the scalp, every night in the week. You'll probably find this a little uncomfortable in the beginning, but in 10 days or so you'll notice that your hair has more life and luster than it's had all summer. The brushing will help too.

And, when you do get your permanent, don't be the kind of woman who is always weak for false economy. The good operator in a good shop responsible for its work and its reputation puts a money value on her time and skill. Be prepared to pay a reasonable price. The cheap, shoddy permanent is much too expensive for any woman. You'll regret your folly in being penny wise and pound foolish where the permanent wave is concerned.

Paris to Open a Brilliant Art Season Oct. 6

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Sept. 4.—What promises to be the most brilliant fall season since the depression years will open in Paris Oct. 6 with the Salon d'Automne. It was at this salon that Fauvism [a revolutionary cult of artists] made its sensational debut in 1905 and that in 1911 cubism was first revealed to a perplexed world. Of the numerous art shows here this is the liveliest and all Montparnasse is presently working on canvases aimed at restoring Paris' reputation as the world's art center.

Similar activity is going on in theatrical circles, movie studios, dressmaking houses and night clubs in an attempt to make the "liberation season" something long to be remembered.

Altho few details have been given out, Paris publishers, freed from German censors, already have announced preliminary items on their fall lists. Included are John Steinbeck's "Tortilla Flat" and "Grapes of Wrath," new editons of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone with the Wind," which was issued at 50 francs [$1] at the beginning of the war and fetched during the occupation prices as high as 1,500 francs [$30], Louis Aragon's "Les Voyageurs de l'Imperiale," and Antoine de St. Exupery's "Pilote de Guerre."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

The failure to reach makable game contracts in the majority of cases is the fault of the responding hand. The opener, in most instances, has announced the approximate strength of his hand by the very act of opening the bidding. The responder's duty is, first, to help find the proper "spot," and secondly, to announce whether he has a fair, good, or very good hand. In a great many cases the responder guides the destiny of the bidding ship. In order to be successful, the responder must first be able to judge how good his hand is, and secondly, to convey that knowledge in such language that his partner will understand it.

We are concerned at the moment with responder's duties. Too many players have been shackled by the chains of trying to remember a lot of numerical requirements. The method I recommend has the merit of greater simplicity. Where responder's hand is the equivalent of an opening bid, he should feel that the partnership ought to reach game, provided a convenient place can be found to play the hand. Remember this proviso, that a convenient place can be found. When responder is in possession of that information it is his solemn duty to go to game or at least to make some bid that forces partner to speak once more.

In today's hand, South, after rebidding the spades, was quite justified in dropping the bidding at three hearts and a sure game in spades was missed. "Partner, I wanted to show you a rebiddable heart suit; I didn't think you would pass," was North's comment. That is where he was wrong. The mere rebid of your own suit is not, under these conditions, construed as a suggestion to partner to keep going. South had not the slightest interest in whether North held a rebiddable heart suit.

When the bidding was opened, North should have looked at his hand and said, "I have an opening bid myself; therefore we should have a game in this hand in either spades, hearts, or no trump, but I don't know as yet where to play it. Partner may have a four card spade suit, so I shall temporarily bid two hearts." When South rebid the spades, he announced two things, a more or less minimum hand and a fairly good spade suit. That's all that North needs to know. He's the one that knows that the partnership possesses the equal to two opening bids and he is the one to bid it.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM.

As North, you hold:

♠ 8 5 ♥ A 8 4 ♦ A K J 8 4 ♣ J 6 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

Born Calcium-Poor!

MOTHERS, did you know that babies are born calcium-poor? Their bones are soft and need calcium to strengthen them.

SCIENTISTS recognize that, to be on the safe side in developing sturdy, well-shaped bones (and sound teeth), growing children should get EXTRA calcium every day... considerably more than just the daily governmental minimum requirement.

NOW many popular foods are completely lacking in calcium. Others supply very small amounts. MILK is our best food source of calcium, but many children refuse to drink enough milk.

SO IF YOU have a young "milk rebel" in your family, try this! Give her Cocomalt with her meals every day. Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal a whole quart in calcium value... gives her that important "extra". (Also extra iron, phosphorus, and Vitamin B_1 and her day's need of Vitamin D!)

*2 heaping teaspoons to an 8-oz. glass of milk

53 Young Women Are Named on Season's Debutante List

BY JUDITH CASS.

FIFTY-THREE young women are on this season's debutante list, approximately the same number as on last year's. A dozen more whose names have been mentioned as debutantes have been removed as these prospective buds have decided definitely against formal debuts in this war year. Such parties as will be given—and most of them are planned for the Christmas holidays—will be simple luncheons or teas in keeping with the times. The list follows:

Nancy Bagley	Clarissa Haffner	Laura Lane	Margaret Rogers
Julie Beich	Carol Halstead	Camille McDonald	Sally Sample
Nancy Brock	Leslie Hansen	Mary McDougal	Anne C. Schmidt
Helen Brown	Carla Hawley	Ruth McKenna	Anna Selfridge
Nancy Buell	Winston Holliday	Sally A. McPherson	Polly Sheldon
Susan Bugbee	Florence Howell	Lillian Montgomery	Elaine Sidley
Ann Cornelison	Ann Johnson	Rosalind Oates	Pauline Thompson
Marguerite Cox	Joan F. Johnson	Anina Paepcke	Patricia Trude
Deborah Daughaday	Joan Johnson	Sylvia Prosser	Rosemary Turner
Emily Dixon	Janet Jones	Hester Pynchon	Gay Tuttle
Patricia Fitzgerald	Barbara Ann King	Lucile Ralston	Betsy Weir
Ann Gregory	Laverne Knight	Helen Rodger	Anne Wilson
			Katrina Wolcott

The names most recently added to the above debutante list are those of Miss Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy L. Turner Jr. of the Edgewater Beach apartments, and of Miss Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Knight of Glencoe. Miss Turner, who is called Ronnie, will not make a formal debut but probably will have a small party during the Christmas holidays. She prepared at the Harrjs schools for St. Mary's of Notre Dame, where she will enroll next Monday. Miss Knight is to be introduced to the feminine friends of her family at a tea from 4 to 6 p. m. on Dec. 21, to be given by Mrs. Knight and her mother, Mrs. Inslee Adrian Bennett, of Fox Chapel, Pa. Miss Knight has chosen a career in preference to college and is employed in war work at Great Lakes.

The young women who have dropped off the list are the Misses Alice Bentley, Mary B. Broeksmit, Alice Keith Carpenter, Anne Finnerud, Caroline Golding, Diane Holliday, Ginevra Mitchell, Joanne Norris, Marion Phelps, Marion Peter, Edith Soames, and Ann Wilcox. Nearly every girl mentioned above

Fling Fur Stole Over Shoulder as Fall Gesture

BY REA SEEGER.

Smart women, weeks ahead of the popular fashions, are already planning on and practicing for the new gesture—that fling of a fur stole over the shoulders of dress, suit, or winter coat. These are not the usual single or double skin scarfs but stoles copied in several versions of historic models. Victorian stoles are long and narrow; some curved and deeper at the back in almost a belt length cape. Very long stoles, a good six times longer than they are wide, are high fashion furs from the newest collections. They all have an air of elegance reminiscent of the grand dames of Edwardian splendor, recalling such carefully groomed and veiled creatures as Lily Langtry and other lushly curved beauties of her time.

Ermine for gala occasions, lined with white, black, or blond colored satin, is shown in both the plain stoles and the long models with fringe of black tipped ermine tails. Spicy brown mink, fisher, nutria, soft silk Persian lamb, broadtail, moleskin, sable, and squirrel make the daytime fur stoles. The biggest shopping excitement is the stoles of chinchilla, with fine silky Australian opossum a close second to the costly and rare chinchilla. Whatever the fur of your choice, it's the graceful fling of the stole and the many ways such a long and graceful stole can be worn to best advantage that make the success of this new and fascinating fur fashion.

One-Day Institutes Scheduled to Train Girl Scout Leaders

Beginning next month and continuing thru November, 35 one-day institutes for the training of adult leaders in the Girl Scouts' camping program will be held in the Great Lakes region. After consultation with the office of defense transportation, the institutes, scheduled so that only a few miles' travel will be necessary for each person attending, were arranged to take the place of the customary regional conference, which has been canceled.

Some 1,500 adults from 500 communities in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Indiana are expected to attend the institutes. The schedule of meetings in this state is as follows: Oct. 5, East St. Louis; Oct. 6, Springfield; Oct. 12, Chicago; Oct. 13, Joliet; Oct. 17, Rockford; Oct. 18, Benton, and Nov. 2, Galesburg.

The Girl Scouts have 75 established summer camps and 133 day camps in this area. Girl Scouts registered in the four states number 139,633.

Trust Nature to Help Train Baby

If a child of this little fellow's age suddenly develops a habit that startles you, it may be best to ignore his actions, Mrs. Bevans explains today. [John Whiting-Pix Photo.]

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Did Bill ever frighten the baby?" asked the father, looking worriedly at his little son. He had the baby out in the yard. His neighbor, Bill, had come over to discuss the garden, and little Jimmie had burst into tears when Bill spoke to him.

"Of course not. Bill loves children and up to now Jimmie has always been delighted to see him. But I've noticed that he clings to me when people speak to him downtown. I don't understand why he's become so unfriendly lately," answered the baby's mother.

The parents decided that they would have to start at once to train the baby out of such a habit. It was embarrassing and not to be tolerated, they felt.

But my general advice would be, "do nothing." Babies, at each stage in their individual lives, probably are going to react differently to different things. Their experience grows day by day, week by week, giving them cause for fear, apprehension—or perhaps a growth of confidence.

So we observe that certain objects or sounds which they scarcely will notice at one age, may either frighten or delight them at another. People who may represent just one more set of loving arms at one period may inspire fear or a feeling of complete reserve at another.

These babies of ours aren't going to grow and develop by rule of thumb. We must expect them to change, not only in themselves but in their relation to the people and things with which they come into contact.

Don't try to train your baby out of every little variation in behavior. After all, with all our science and study and imagination, we must remain, to a certain extent, in a fog as to what actually goes on in the mind and emotions of a baby.

Your cue is to observe your baby. Try to understand him, and in this way get on an intelligent working basis. Love him a lot and be gentle with him. Ignore what most people say or may be thinking about your child and his behavior, and trust a great deal to nature. Train yourself to be patient—not to "do something" at the first sign of what you may consider unusual behavior.

You and Your Child is a booklet parents and teachers will find helpful. For your copy send 18 cents to Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago 11, Ill.

Charges Radio Curbs Faith in Nutrition Study

The radio has done more to destroy faith in nutrition research than any other element in American life, C. A. Elvehjem, professor of biochemistry at the Univeristy of Wisconsin, asserted yesterday at the first free public session of the 20th Harris Foundation institute at Mandel hall, University of Chicago. The five day institute is being devoted to food in international relations.

"We have with us continuously the pernicious type of commercial advertising and statements and articles by pseudo-nutritionists," Prof. Elvehjem declared. "I imagine more people have lost faith in nutrition from listening to the radio than from any one of the other causes."

Because of exploded hopes, originally unfounded on scientific fact, there are indications that interest in nutrition has begun to wane, Prof. Elvehjems said.

"In many areas, the present generation has seen the complete disappearance of rickets, beri-beri, and pellagra as a result of the proper application of scientific knowledge," he continued. "It has been reported that hundreds of pellagrins have been treated in the last seven years without a single death. People familiar with these results expect their arthritis, colds, and other illnesses to be treated with the same rapidity. Since this is not possible, they begin to grumble a little about nutritional research."

Future research should deal with total nutrition and total fitness and efficiency of an individual, Prof. Elvehjem said.

"Speeding up of growth or performance for short periods of time does not necessarily mean improved nutrition," he explained. "Best nutrition will not result from saturation of the body with cheap vitamins at the expense of other nutriments or flooding the body with fats and carbohydrates so that the body systems never need to exert themselves to produce the energy required from the body activity."

Karl Brandt, director of the food research institute of Stanford university, will speak on "Marriage of Nutrition and Agriculture" at 4:30 p. m. today in Mandel hall.

White Collar GIRL

What's Your Version?

We make soap and toiletries [good ones, I might add] and sometimes the WCG's in the stenographic department are amazed at the products they hear described on the cylinders that come to us for transcription. Recently one of our correspondents talked about our "powdered mechanics' hand soap." Probably for lady mechanics.

TAFFY.

Clear Your Desk.

It happens in the best regulated business lives. Things to do pile up and up until you can't see over your desk and your thinking becomes as confused and disorderly as the mixed up mess before you. Your inclination is to flutter, dabbing at this, looking at that, and never settling down to anything in particular.

Before the situation gets completely out of hand there is only one course to take: Take a deep breath, calm down, and then start acting like an efficiency expert.

Get a bunch of clean filing folders and sort everything on the disordered desk. Assemble the letters to be answered, the carbons to be filed, the telegrams to be sent. Make a list of the telephone calls to be made, the errands to do, and the people to see.

Make a clean sweep, putting away all nonessential paraphernalia, the too numerous pencils, paper clips, erasers, personal letters, blotters, and unused stationery. Get the desk looking as bare as possible, dust it thoroly, assemble the file folders with things to do in order of importance—first things first—and then start working thru them systematically.

It will take probably half an hour to bring about the change to an orderly desk but it is worth the time.

School Story.

We were discussing the opening of the school term with a friend of ours who told us why she enjoyed her job of teaching 1st graders. She admitted that sometimes it was hard work and trying, but there was always something funny happening. Then she recounted an incident that had happened just before school closed last June.

One of her young pupils came to school and announced to teacher that her mother had told her daddy at dinner the night before that she wasn't going to let him go to school to see teacher—she was much too pretty. Teacher was flattered.

The next morning the child came giggling up to her desk and said that mother had scolded her for telling what went on at the family dinner table and denied that she said teacher was pretty. Teacher was crushed.

The following morning the young miss, much subdued, came to teacher and said: "Mother says I should keep my mouth shut; I talk too much." Teacher agreed.

Weddings Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage on Aug. 26 at the army air field chapel in Carlsbad, N. M., of Miss Jo Ann Coppock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Coppock of Iowa Park, Tex., and Lt. Michael P. Locascio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Locascio of Des Plaines. Lt. Locascio attended the Illinois State Normal school and Northern Illinois State Teachers college and now is a bombardier instructor. His bride attended Texas State College for Women.

Mrs. William G. Beatty of Fergus, Ont., announces the marriage on Aug. 12 of her sister, Mrs. Jessie Norris Fielding of Guelph, Ont., to Dr. Albert E. Gammage of Miami, Fla., formerly of Chicago. The wedding took place in the home of Dr. Gammage's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie V. Gaynor of Phillips av., and was followed by a buffet supper. After a trip to Guelph, Dr. and Mrs. Gammage will live in Miami.

'Miss Lieutenant'

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

(Copyright: 1944: By Ines Eliot.)

SYNOPSIS: Lt. Carol Melton, an army nurse in North Africa, overhears a military conference. Maps and photographs of the crooked little towns along the Riviera are needed. Carol was educated at Nice, knows the coastline, and has an identical twin, Lita, married to a Frenchman who has such a collection. She persuades Col. Barlow to recommend her for the mission. He confides that information known only to trusted officials about the troops in Africa has been leaking out. The informer knows the Riviera well. One of the commandos to accompany her is Bright Stoner, a childhood sweetheart. Her memory of him has always stood between her and other men. At the restaurant of Papa Brochard, husband of Mme. Victorine, Carol's old nurse, they find Lita and Jacques are friendly with German officials. Wearing clothing Lita had given to Victorine and with Bright disguised as her porter, they near the castle when a Gestapo car passes them. Jacques Cassard is in it. From Victorine, Carol learns Lita has been gone for three days, taking money and valuables with her, and that Jacques had violent words with Marshal Karl Herman Janner that morning. At dinner, Maj. Uhlan is taken from the table in a drunken stupor. Carol is questioned about the maps and locked in Lita's room. Using a secret stairway, she descends to the drawing room, meets Bright, but the maps are gone. Uhlan has been poisoned. They escape, takeing Uhlan's body to his car and send the car over an embankment. The castle is guarded. Victorine will send word to them at Grasse where Lita may be found. They follow a circus and find Lita, who has the maps. Jacques, who has been counterspying, feels Janner is playing a double game. While Bright goes in search of a boat to take them to the waiting submarine, Carol remains with the circus. Baroni, who replaces an ill acrobat, shoots Janner, Carol flees to Brochard's, where Bright finds her. Jacques escapes from a concentration camp. At Andre's, the fisherman, Carol and Lita say good-by.

INSTALMENT XXXII.
UNDER ARREST.

Bright turned to Lita.

"How about Mme. Victorine?" he asked. "Did Brochard say anything about her?"

"Mme. Victorine is dead," she said. "She—she died of certain blows."

Altho from Lita's gesture she had anticipated it, the news turned in Carol's heart like a knife. "The swine, O, the swine!" she thought, but outwardly she gave no sign except the sudden wicked clenching of her hands. "If it hadn't been for us this wouldn't have happened!" she thought. "We can't pay that debt off except in one way!"

Lita had controled herself and was speaking again in the curiously impersonal fashion with which war robs momentous decisions of their drama.

"Of course I am going to Grasse," said Lita. "I am going now. Now that I've seen and told you. Papagol will go with me. There is still the cellar at the perfume factory. Probably I can contact Jacques from there. You understand, Carrot Top?"

"I understand, Carrot Top." Carol said it quietly but then a sudden wave of protest seized her.

"Don't do it!" she cried, "don't go! Stay here and come with us. We've got to get away, we must. Andre has a boat and tomorrow night we'll all be on the sub."

"Carol, look at me!" Lita said. "That would be quitting and Pop's red heads don't quit. There is only one thing for me to do. That is to stay here and help my man and, if I can't help him, to help the others get ready for the day of liberation. That is my allegiance now. Jacques won't leave France, either. I am sure he won't leave—not now, when there is hope of allied invasion coming soon. His work and mine is helping France prepare. Your job is to get back and do all you can to make the time short for us over here. You will do that, won't you?"

"You know I will. Give Jacques my love, Lita, and my blessing. I want to feel I'm making it up to him in some way for ever believing he was anything but loyal."

"I'll tell him. And hurry back, Carol!"

"I will, Lita. We will. God keep you until then, dear."

A few minutes later they were gone. The tall, strong young woman and the frail old clown walking off together in the widening gray of early morning. Carol watched from behind the fish nets which hung across the one small window at the front of Andre's house.

"But if only I could think of some way to help her—to protect her!" Carol prayed. Then she felt a hand on her shoulder and Bright was regarding her with anxious eyes.

"Better try to get an hour's sleep," he said. "Tonight's the night, you know, and you've got to be on your toes."

Andre's boy, young Raoul, came into the little back room with a cup of hot water, dry bread, and a torn copy of the Nice newspaper which he had picked up on the wharves.

The headlines were screaming protests about the criminal assassination of Karl Herman Janner, high Nazi official, the favorite of Hitler, the honored and brilliant soldier. A huge state funeral was being planned.

The boy Raoul also brought rumors of dreadful happenings. Baroni was said to have been executed without a trial. Some of the circus people, including the other acrobats, Jessant and the Professor, had been lined up in the market place and shot as an example. A hundred persons of both sexes were being held as hostages.

All of this had its effect upon Andre. During the conference which ensued in the kitchen he appeared reluctant to help any further.

"I offered the use of my boat before this happening—when things were of a comparative quietness. Now it will be impossible to take you out of the harbor here unchallenged."

"Then we'll have to meet you some place else," said Bright.

"None of the small harbors will be any safer," he said. "It is not of myself I think," he added, "but of my motherless Raoul—what would happen to that small one if I am caught?"

"I know and I understand. But you'd still take us out if we could figure a good place to come aboard?"

"But yes. However, I know of no such place."

Carol had been thinking hard as the two men talked. The Englishman's villa where they had landed was out because the man who had taken them there was under arrest. It was also terribly dangerous for Bright and herself to remain here at Andre's house. There was actually less danger on the open road than in remaining here.

"There is one safe place to meet," she said, "the cliff side of Le Bastion. There'll be no patrol there for the simple reason that there is no footing on shore. I mean where the old smugglers' gate opens at the foot of the sheer cliff. Do you know about the watergate, Andre?" Andre did not know, so she made a rough sketch of the spot.

"You can keep your boat there a little way off shore. We may have to swim out to you from the other side of the castle grounds and around the cliff. So don't fail us. The only other approach to the smugglers' gate is an underground passage that comes out in the kitchen of the castle and we can't very well use that. But if we're not caught before we get to the water front on the garden side we'll make it all right."

After some discussion it was agreed to carry out her scheme. Neither of the men could offer a better plan and, as Janner was dead, the castle might even be deserted for all they knew, or perhaps occupied by people who would not be likely to recognize them.

"And now, monsieur et mademoiselle," said Andre, "I must go to the place where they give out bread. If I am not there before 8, there is no chance of getting any. And you will both be gone before I return?" he added anxiously.

They told him he need have no fear on that score and Andre set off, the boy Raoul trotting along beside him, a lean little figure in his shabby black pinafore.

As soon as they were out of sight Bright checked on their weapons and pulled his beret low.

"All right, Kansas," he said, "let's get going."

Then he kissed her. A long, wonderful kiss which sent the blood racing thru her veins and told her to live and fight and hope. And when he released her and she came back to the consciousness that she was still in this little room where danger lurked, the place was full of men in uniform. Their commander grinned from ear to ear.

"A million pardons for disturbing you," he said sarcastically, "but you are both under arrest!"

53 Are Listed as Debutantes of This Season

A Pasadena, Cal., debutante who is of interest here is Miss Elizabeth Parry Young, daughter of the Archibald B. Youngs and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Hardy of Evanston. She was introduced to society at a tea recently in the garden of her parents' Pasadena home. Miss Young was graduated from the Ethel Walker school in June, and will enter Scripps college this fall. Among the women assisting Mrs. Young at the party was Mrs. Stuart Chevalier, author of "Drivin' Woman."

Service Notes.

Two new recruits, Miss Charlotte Shafer and Miss Edith Harrison, have been added to the group of American Red Cross staff assistants who will be serving overseas soon. Miss Shafer, who was a nurses' aid before her enlistment, recently completed her training course at Washington, D. C., and now is stationed at Camp Pickett, Va., awaiting orders. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Shafer of Glencoe.

Miss Harrison bid good-by to her parents, the junior Carter H. Harrisons, yesterday and left for Washington to begin her training. She returned from the Huron Mountain club last week following a farewell visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Harrison Sr., at the latter's summer home.

The R. Douglas Stuarts' daughter, Anne, a Lake Forest neighbor of the Harrisons, has been an overseas staff assistant for more than a year, and is now "somewhere in France" driving a Red Cross clubmobile behind our advancing troops. Miss Stuart was one of the first Red Cross workers to reach the Cherbourg peninsula after the invasion. Her brother, Capt. Stuart Jr., also is in northern France with the army.

Miss Nancy Bastien also is a Red Cross clubmobile driver in France and, according to word received by her parents, the Alvin Bastiens, is working from dawn to dusk serving coffee and doughnuts to the soldiers.

On the Calendar.

Col. Isaac Miller Hamilton, who will be celebrating his 80th birthday anniversary tomorrow, will be feted at a banquet in the Hotel Sherman that night. Among the guests will be his son-in-law, Spencer R. Keare, who with Mrs. Keare, the former Miriam Hamilton, and their three children, lives in Highland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Walter Stubbs are entertaining at dinner tonight in their Woodlawn av. home to celebrate the 85th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Stubbs' father, Maj. Edgar B. Tolman. The stag party is given every five years for old friends and legal associates of Maj. Tolman.

The Woman's Athletic club, which has been closed since Aug. 18, will reopen today. Tomorrow the club's Red Cross unit will resume its meetings, which were suspended thru August. Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler is chairman of the Red Cross committee.

ORPHAN ANNIE

This Musical Western Gets a Good Hand

"TWILIGHT ON THE PRAIRIE."

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

ACTING: Pleasing. Johnny Downs is a nice, smooth player who, as you know, can both sing and dance. Eddie Quillan—the chap who looks like Charlie McCarthy—is entertaining. The girls in the piece are glamorous enough, and minor roles are handled all right.

DIRECTION: Satisfactory.

DIALOG: Simple.

STORY: The Buckaroos, cowboy musicians from the east, are forced down on a Texas ranch while en route to Hollywood to make their first picture, "Glorifying Texas." . . . Here they experience adventure and romance and knowledge of ranchin' ways. . . . In Hollywood they refuse to make a synthetic film and insist on being taken back to Texas and allowed to do the thing up right. And, of course, take up where they left off with girls thereabouts.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: "Twilight on the Prairie" [name of the movie the Buckaroos make] seems to go over right well with the patrons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—Congress starts a probe tomorrow morning into charges of New Deal favoritism in the issuance of radio station licenses which may involve high political personages.

Clarence F. Lea.

Chairman Lea [D., Cal.] of the special house committee investigating the federal communications commission, announced tonight that FCC Chairman James L. Fly would be the first witness summoned.

The first case of alleged favoritism to be investigated, Lea said, will involve the granting of a license to station WFTL in Miami, Fla. After Fly has been examined, a number of witnesses from Florida will present their testimony.

Fly's committee appearance will be his first since he announced that he was considering his resignation.

RADIO TO CARRY DEWEY'S INITIAL CAMPAIGN TALK

Details of the radio broadcasting schedule of the Republican national committee were announced yesterday. Gov. Dewey of New York, the Presidential nominee, will make his first major radio address since his nomination in Chicago from Convention hall in Philadelphia from 9 to 9:30 p. m. [CWT] Thursday over NBC and CBS.

Prior to this broadcast, however, three Republican governors representing states from coast to coast will speak under auspices of the Republican national committee from 8:15 to 8:30 tonight over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. They are Gov. Kelly of Michigan, Gov. Edge of New Jersey, and Gov. Langlie of Washington.

Gov. Dewey will speak again on Friday from 8:30 to 9 p. m. over CBS and NBC from Louisville, Ky. Gov. Bricker of Ohio, the Vice Presidential nominee, will speak over Mutual, NBC, and CBS from French Lick, Ind., from 9:30 to 10 p. m., Saturday.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

I've heard several women express surprise that they were able to obtain tender and savory meat from the lower grades of beef which are now on the market and nonrationed.

It's really nothing to be surprised about. Good cooks have long known that slow cooking, careful seasoning, and plenty of time will tenderize and make flavorful the cheapest cuts of meat. Nonrationed beef can't be broiled or oven roasted, but it makes excellent stews, meat pies, swiss steaks, and pot roasts.

Beef Pie.
[Serves six.]

2 pounds round or rump beef
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon celery salt
¼ cup lard or bacon drippings
3 bouillon cubes
2¼ cups boiling water
½ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
3 large carrots, cut in pieces
12 small white onions, peeled
Baking powder biscuit dough

Cut meat into 1½ inch cubes and dredge with ¼ cup of the flour, to which salt, pepper, and celery salt have been added. Brown on all sides in the hot fat. Sprinkle remaining ¼ cup flour over meat and stir. Dissolve bouillon cubes in the boiling water and add gradually to browned meat, stirring as gravy thickens. Add worcestershire sauce and more salt and pepper if necessary. Cover and simmer gently for 2 hours. Add vegetables and simmer 1 to 1½ hours longer, or until meat and vegetables are tender. Turn mixture into a greased casserole and top with baking powder biscuits cut with a doughnut cutter. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes, or until biscuits are done.

The more nonrationed meat we use the more red points we have for butter and cheese. All of the following meats are unrationed, and it is possible to eat meat three times a day for a week, if you like, without spending a single red point.

Nonrationed Meats.

All roasts, steaks, and other cuts of beef of the lower grades. These are suitable for pot roasts, swiss steaks, meat stews and pies, soups, braised dishes, and meat loaves. Better grades of beef are nonrationed if you buy flank steak, short ribs, plate, neck, heel of round, and shank meat. Hamburger costs no points. Beef heart, liver, and tongue are nonrationed.

Lower grades of lamb are nonrationed; also all qualities of breast and flank, neck, shank, and ground lamb patties. Mutton is nonrationed. Lamb hearts, liver, sweetbreads, and tongue are point free.

Bacon, spareribs, pork hocks, pork shoulder [fresh and smoked], picnic steaks, pork liver, heart, and tongue cost no points.

Any cut of veal may be purchased without points, including roasts, steaks, chops, and the high priced, greatly demanded calf liver.

Sausages and ready to eat meat loaves also are point free.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Two of more than 50 WACs who are staffing the admission free "Shot from the Sky" exhibit, showing thru 10 o'clock tonight in the Congress st. plaza in Grant park, are Chicagoans.

Pvt. Jane Bambula, whose rôle in the exhibit is that of manning the operations booth in the WAC tent, is the wife of army air force Lt. Charles D. Bambula, on duty in the Marshall Islands. Their home is at 4014 Addison st.

Pvt. Elizabeth Jones of Los Angeles, Cal., a WAC who joined the army to avenge her father, a prisoner of war on the Japanese mainland, describes a Messerschmitt 109, fastest German fighter plane, which is one of thousands of items of captured enemy equipment featured in the exhibit. Pvt. Jones' father, Lt. Col. Richard Jones, was captured in January, 1942, on a Pacific island where he was teaching gunnery. She hears from him approximately every six months.

At 8 o'clock tonight the "WAC Caravan," a two hour stage production whose cast of 28 is made up of air force personnel, four of them WACs, all with civilian stage experience, will make a one night stand at the exhibit. Written to assist WAC recruiting, the caravan has been touring the nation for 10 months and has traveled 43,000 miles. The talent was selected from 1,100 auditions.

Beginning tomorrow, the show will visit Vaughan and Gardiner general hospitals and the station hospital at Fort Sheridan.

After completing a training curriculum including military courtesy, marine corps history, close order drill, chemical warfare, and map reading, 12 Chicago marine corps women reservists have been assigned to duty at corps units thruout the country. All had boot instruction at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Now releasing men for combat duty by filling important marine corps jobs are Privates Evelyn A. Galdes, 1843 W. 13th st.; June K. McDowell, 1067 W. Argyle st.; Marcella H. Frost, 5048 N. Leavitt st.; Elaine A. Richards, 2141 W. 110th st.; Ruth C. Katz, 3001 Odell av.; Nancy C. Engwall, 208 N. Central av.; Catherine M. Quinn, 6601 S. Stewart st.; Elizabeth H. Lehmann, 334 S. Loomis st.; Beverly E. Hunter, 7234 Lafayette av.; Darlene D. Draper, 1620 Sheridan rd.; Betty A. Middleton, 1704 E. 69th st., and Mary M. Broneage, 709 N. Dearborn st.

Two other Chicago women reservists have earned promotions at the marine corps air station at Cherry Point, N. C., where they are on duty with an aviation unit. They are Sgt. Berenice E. Roarty, 6759 Oshkosh av., and Corp. Josephine T. Wickman, 2956 Oakley av.

Birth Rate Is Aided by Women Over 30 Having First Child

Women in their 30's who had been married for some time but delayed having children until economic conditions became more favorable made an appreciable contribution to the rapid wartime rise in the national birth rate, statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company show.

Young mothers at ages 20 to 29 years who were having their first child were the principal contributors to the high birth rate. Forty per cent of the births in the United States between 1939 and 1942, latest year for which detailed data are available, occurred among mothers in the 20's and 33 per cent of the mothers were from 30 to 39.

Families having their second or third child also showed considerable gains in the war period. These increases were not influenced by the upward trend of the marriage rate but reflected mainly the usual increase in the birth rate when the curve of business conditions rises.

SGT. FRANK PARKER.

Parker Takes Tennis Title After 13 Years

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP).—Sgt. Frankie Parker of Milwaukee finally made it. The sergeant, now stationed at Muroc field, Cal., who made his first effort to win the national men's tennis championship as a 16 year old back in 1932, attained the title today in his 13th effort, whipping William Talbert of Indianapolis, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 in the finals of the 63d national tournament.

Frankie won the first set despite 25 errors, then steadied so that he made only 21, 13, and 10 errors in the next three sets while scoring a total of only 28 points on placements.

Talbert Hits Net Frequently.

It was a base line duel, with Talbert making occasional efforts to take the net and having little success. He was unable to place his volleys out of Parker's reach and netted frequently as he dashed to the forecourt. His long drives also were hitting the net with discouraging frequency.

Margaret Osborne of San Francisco, beaten finalist in the women's singles Sunday, teamed with Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal., to win the women's doubles title for the third successive year. They beat Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, women's champion, and Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Mixed Doubles Champs Win.

Another pair of defending champions, Miss Osborne and Talbert, retained their mixed doubles title by defeating Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., and Navy Lt. Don McNeill, 6-2, 6-3, immediately after whipping Mary Arnold of Los Angeles and Air Cadet Bobby Falkenburg of Merced Field, Cal., 6-2, 6-2. Miss Bundy and McNeill had eliminated Mrs. Virginia Wolfenden Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., and Pvt. Tom Brown Jr. of Camp Campbell, Cal., 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, earlier today.

DAILY TROUBLE IS SECOND BY TWO LENGTHS

Some Chance 3d at Washington Park.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Equifox, Howard Wells' 7-year-old campaigner, a son of the great Equipoise, raced to a rousing two-length victory in the 17th running of the $59,050 Washington Park Handicap yesterday before a record holiday crowd of 42,000 at Washington Park.

Equifox, ridden by Al Bodiou, came from third place entering the stretch to pass his pacemaking stablemate, Daily Trouble, and A. S. Hewitt's Some Chance which held on to take down third place. J. J. L. Powers' Welcome Pass took fourth money in a field of nine 3 year olds and upward.

Owner Collects $40,700.

The victory in the annual Labor day feature, a mile and a quarter affair, was worth $40,700 to Owner Wells, a Lexington [Ky.] breeder, while Daily Trouble's share of the rich purse amounted to $10,000 for David Straus.

The Calumet Farm's Pensive, which went postward co-favorite with the winning entry at 5 to 2, was sixth.

Wells' entry paid $7.40, $6.40, $4.00 across the board, while Some Chance returned $4 to show. Betting on the race totaled $246,422.

The day's wagering on the nine race card amounted to $1,921,939 and broke the record of $1,740,293 set July 4 when the Stars and Stripes handicap was run as the highlight of the five day charity meeting sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Daily Trouble and Equifox followed their customary tactics, the former going out to make the pace while the latter dropped far behind in the early stages.

Daily Trouble Goes Ahead.

As they swept past the stands on the rush for the first turn, Daily Trouble forged out of the pack, with Sirde and Take Wing crossing over from the outside to reach the heels of the leader. Traffic Court was right with them.

On the swing around the curve, Daily Trouble drew clear rapidly until he had opened up an advantage of six lengths as they headed down the back stretch. Take Wing was just ahead of Traffic Court and Sirde was a couple of lengths further back. Meanwhile Pensive, striding along the rail in the next flight, was heading into a tight situation which developed about half way down the back stretch. Grohs had to take a firm hold on him when he was unable to get between Valley Flares and Some Chance. At this stage of the race, Equifox was ahead of only one horse—Welcome Pass.

Some Chance Moves Up.

They went into the far turn with Daily Trouble still winging along with a five-length lead. Now Some Chance had moved up until he and Sirde were engaged in a head and head duel for second place.

On the turn, Equifox began to move in the resolute fashion which earned him so many spectacular victories in previous years. He moved past horse after horse until only Daily Trouble, Some Chance, and Sirde were ahead of him as they settled down for the drive thru the straightway. He still was quite a ways back, however, for Daily Trouble was enjoying a four length lead while Some Chance and Sirde, still head and head, were two lengths ahead of Equifox.

He Answers the Call.

Bodiou then called on Equifox for one of his famous finishes and he responded. He overhauled Sirde, going to the eighth pole. He caught Some Chance a few jumps later, then wore down Daily Trouble to win. His time was 2:03, one second slower than the track record.

Georgie Drum, Allen Drumheller's winner of the $50,000 added Stars and Stripes and the $15,000 Sheridan handicap at the meeting, was scratched an hour and a half before post time, for the big race. Also withdrawn from the original entry list of 12 were John Marsh's Valdina Foe and Happy Stable's Happy Issue.

For the third straight season the net proceeds of the Labor day program went to local charity and war relief funds, equal beneficiaries being the Illinois Veterans' Services, Inc., the Chicago Service Men's center, and the Community and War Fund of Metropolitan Chicago, Inc.

VICTORY COMES TO EQUIPOISE'S SON

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the organization of the All-America Football conference, which will begin operation in 1945, has brought inquiries from all parts of the country as to our connection with it. . . . First of all, let it be known that this department doesn't have a cent invested in any club in the new pro league. . . . We aspire to no league office. . . . Only a few years ago we turned down a ten year contract at a fancy salary to serve as president of the National Football league. . . . We intend to spend the rest of our working days as an employe of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, provided the paper will keep us on the payroll. . . . We mention these personal matters, not because there is special news interest in them, but merely to establish motives why we organized a new professional football group. . . . The sports editor of every metropolitan newspaper in the land knows that a new major football league will be an inevitable post-war development. . . . Two or three such efforts already are under way. . . . All lack promotion fundamentals. . . . Assuming that they actually advance to a stage where schedules are begun, it is unlikely they will survive a season. . . . The columns of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York Times, San Francisco Chronicle and scores of other journals of that character are too valuable to devote to sports enterprises which have no chance to endure. . . . The owners of clubs in the All-America conference are men of vast incomes. . . . They have business sense and are willing to assume business risks. . . . They know it will take two or three years to produce profits. . . . They are prepared for the rough days that usually befall pioneering efforts in any field. . . .

Secondly, we feel an obligation to the owners of teams in the National Football league. . . . We have dealt with them for many years in All-Star football and will continue to do so. . . . They have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in lifting their sport to a plane where it has been accepted enthusiastically by the public. . . . Some of them gave more than money. . . . They gave the best years of their lives in building the integrity of the game. . . . They are entitled to fair competition. . . . Wildcat promoters could cause them embarrassment no end by raiding their talent ranks, even tho such unsportsmanlike actions eventually wrecked their leagues. . . . There will be none of that from the owners of teams in the All-America conference. . . . They will try, of course, to get the best possible material. . . . They will spend liberally to attain that end, but they are not going to plunge their properties into debt simply to hire two or three name players or coaches. . . . National league owners certainly would prefer competition of that type to what they might expect from less responsible rivals. . . .

Thirdly, it is time someone stepped in to protect the interest of college football and college players. . . . One of the reasons the National league prospered was its attitude toward undergraduate football. . . . Many years ago it adopted a rule that no college man could play in the pro league until his class had graduated. . . . The war has complicated the operation of that rule and some of the owners are trying to take advantage of it. . . . While hundreds of collegiate athletes are in military service their clashes have graduated. . . . Technically, that makes them eligible for professional football. . . . Maybe it's to the advantage of the returning soldier or sailor that he can make money immediately in athletics. . . . In the vast majority of cases, however, it is our opinion that these young men 10 years later would be much more useful citizens if they went back to college to complete their academic and athletic work. . . . The college coach who helped a player attain a rating where he attracted the attention of professional scouts deserves some consideration, too. . . . It seems to this department that the loss of a few players whose entrance into pro football would be delayed a year would be more than made up in the good will of collegiate leaders everywhere. . . . For selfish reasons alone professional operators zealously should protect the prosperity of the college game. . . .

More important than any of the above arguments is the consideration due the player. . . . Let's take the case of Bill Daley, famous Minnesota-Michigan star now in the navy. . . . Daley has been drafted by the Pittsburgh club of the National Football league. . . . Under present conditions, Daley must play for Pittsburgh at the salary Pittsburgh is willing to pay him or he must forget a career in major league football. . . . Now that there is a second major circuit in operation Daley will be drafted by another club. . . . There will be competition for his services. . . . He is certain to gain in the bidding for his contract. . . .

The All-America conference will help spread interest in a great game. . . . It will make the National Football league a better unit because of the competition. . . . It will offer new jobs to coaches and players. . . . It will put additional money into circulation. . . . It will give recreation to thousands in centers which now have no Sunday football. . . . It will be a wholesome addition to the post-war sporting scene. . . .

A president of the new conference will be chosen at the next meeting. . . . At that time our official connection with the venture will be finished. . . . We have spent several months in organizing the group without a cent of compensation, not because the owners were unwilling to pay for service, but because we wouldn't accept remuneration for that kind of work. . . . The only reimbursement we expect is a league that will operate honestly and intelligently and be a credit to the world in which we live.

REDSKINS WHIP PACKERS, 20-7; THIRD STRAIGHT

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 4 [Special].—The Washington Redskins, with Sammy Baugh and Steve Bagarus teaming up as a passing unit, tonight whipped the Green Bay Packers, 20 to 7, before 44,217 fans in an exhibition football game. The rival National league teams do not meet in a championship game this season. It was the Redskins' third straight exhibition triumph. Don Hutson of the Packers did not play. In the crowd were 18,000 service men.

Bagarus, former Notre Dame star, caught a touchdown pass in the first quarter which enabled the Redskins to tie the westerners, 7 to 7. Then, in the fourth period, he took one for 19 yards from Baugh to break the deadlock. Five minutes later the Redskins had another touchdown on runs of 50 and 25 yards by Frank Akins, the full back.

Fritsch Scores for Packers.

Green Bay's score was made on a 3 yard plunge by Full Back Ted Fritsch at the end of a 53 yard drive. Then Fritsch kicked the point. The Redskins came back with a 64 yard march, all but three yards being negotiated on Baugh's passes. Bagarus caught one in the end zone after Larry Craig of the Redskins deflected it into his hands. The Packers blocked Joe Aguirre's attempted field goal from the 16 yard line in the second quarter. In the third period, Green Bay stopped a Washington drive on its 10 and had a rally going when Bagarus intercepted Irv Comp's pass.

Meet Bears Sunday.

Washington [20].		Green Bay [7].
Aguirre	L.E.	Mason
Xeno	L.T.	Ray
Fiorentino	L.G.	Kuusisto
Campofreda	C.	C. Brock
Merkle	R.G.	Tinsley
North	R.T.	Schwammel
Lapka	R.E.	Jacunski
Baugh	Q.B.	Craig
Seno	L.H.	Comp
Bagarus	R.H.	Lawa
Seymour	F.B.	Fritsch

Washington	7	0	0	13—20
Green Bay	7	0	0	0— 7

BEARS PRACTICE ON PASSES—THE PROS' VARIETY

The Chicago Bears today will add something to their offense which was not in evidence during their 24 to 21 victory last week over the College All-Stars. On their practice field at Amundsen High school the professional champions will drill on a series of short jump passes, which are delivered a yard or two back of the line of scrimmage. Because of the college rule in effect in the All-Star game, the Bears were limited to throwing passes from at least five yards behind the scrimmage line.

The Bears will leave tomorrow for Baltimore to prepare for Sunday's game with the Washington Redskins. Yesterday's three hour session included a pass scrimmage as the coaches told the players they must get ready for a rough afternoon against the Redskins.

Sox Lose, 12-2, Then Defeat Tigers, 6 to 3

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Eddie Lopat, one of two Sox pitchers to triumph since Aug. 18, yesterday beat Johnny Gorsica and the Detroit Tigers for the second time in six days, 6 to 3. Eddie's performance, a four hitter in which the first two Tiger runs were unearned, came as a happy contrast to the first game, in which the Tigers belted out 20 hits off Orval Grove and Jake Wade for a 12 to 2 victory credited to Stub Overmire, four time conqueror of the Chicagoans this season.

The Tigers, by dropping the second game, in which they were the leaders, 3 to 0, as late as the sixth, lost ground to the new American league pace setters, the Yankees. They will be back in Comiskey park tonight in an effort to keep in the race, pitting their 22 game winner, Lefty Hal Newhouser, against Joe Haynes, the other one of the Sox pitching pair who has won since Aug. 18. The teams will conclude their series tomorrow afternoon.

Two Runs Unearned.

Since the second game was the more pleasing to most of the 20,446 in Comiskey park yesterday, the details of the triumph herein are set down first.

The Tigers scored two runs—both unearned—in the first inning, or only half as many as they did in the first inning of the first game. After Doc Cramer had fanned, Eddie Mayo was safe on Le Roy Schalk's error and Pinky Higgins walked. Rudy York fouled to Mike Tresh, then Dick Wakefield dumped a hit into left center. What looked like a lucky single bloomed into a startling triple when the ball bounced almost at right angles from its course. Mayo and Higgins scored.

Cramer Upsets Routine.

Lopat retired the Detroiters in order in the second, third, fourth, and fifth innings, but the three-up-and-three-down routine was upset when Cramer scratched a single at the start of the sixth for the Tigers' second hit. Cramer moved up on Mayo's sacrifice and scored on Higgins' single to left.

The Sox grabbed four runs and the lead in the sixth. Lopat opened with a single to right, third hit off Gorsica, and stopped at third on Wally Moses' double to right. Schalk singled to right, scoring Lopat and Moses, and took second on Jimmy Outlaw's throw to the plate. Ralph Hodgin grounded to York but Trosky doubled to right, scoring Schalk with the tying run. Thurman Tucker doubled to left, scoring Trosky. Henshaw replaced Gorsica. Carnett struck out and Tresh bounced to Higgins.

Neat Maneuver Nets a Run.

Webb opened the seventh with a single to center and Lopat and Moses struck out. Schalk singled to right, putting Webb on third. On a hit and run play, Schalk broke for second and pulled Joe Hoover to second, whereupon Hodgin rolled a single thru the spot just vacated by Hoover. Webb scored and Schalk took third on the neat maneuver. Trosky singled to right, scoring Schalk. Tucker popped to Higgins, but the Sox weren't worried about their lead the way Lopat was going on his way to being a .500 pitcher, with nine victories and nine defeats.

The Tigers pounced on the Sox in the first inning of the first game, making four runs on three hits and two errors. Cramer and Mayo singled and on a sacrifice and an error by Schalk, Cramer scored, Mayo reached third, and Higgins first. York fouled out but Wakefield walked, loading the bases. Outlaw singled to left, scoring Mayo and Higgins and when the ball got thru John Dickshot, Wakefield also scored and Outlaw got to third. Richards fanned and Hodgin threw out Hoover.

Tigers Add Three More Runs.

The Sox made a run after two were out in their second. Tresh singled to center and scored on Skeeter Webb's single to left.

A second pass to Wakefield and a double by Richards gave the Tigers a run in the third and they added three more in the fourth on successive singles by Mayo, Higgins, and York and Carnett's two base error on Wakefield's long fly.

Wade took over the Sox pitching load in the fifth, tho Grove was charged with his 12th defeat, against 12 successes. Jake held the Tigers to two hits and one run. In the sixth the Tigers again made two singles but failed to score when the Sox, for the second time, broke up an attempted double steal.

Wade held the Detroiters to only one hit and no runs in the seventh and to singles by Mayo, York, and Wakefield in the eighth, without yielding a run.

Sox Score in Ninth.

In the ninth Hoover's third hit, Mayo's fourth single, Higgins' third

Browns Split with Indians; Trail by ½ Game.

New York, Sept. 4 (AP).—The New York Yankees displaced the St. Louis Browns at the top of the American league today by routing Philadelphia twice, 10 to 0 and 14 to 0, while the Browns were splitting a double header with Cleveland. The double triumph gave the Yanks a lead of one-half game over the Browns while Detroit now trails by two and one-half games and Boston by three.

A pair of rookie pitchers, Walt Dubiel and Mel Queen, limited the A's to five hits in each of the games here while the Yanks pounded assorted Philadelphia pitchers for 13 hits in the opener and 19 in the second game.

The Browns, who had held first place since May 31, dropped their opener to the Indians, 6 to 4, but came back to win the second game, 5 to 1. Detroit split with the White Sox while Boston was dividing with Washington, thus dropping behind the pace set by the fast moving Yankees. Box scores:

CUBS TRIUMPH, 6-3, THEN LOSE TO PIRATES, 4-3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 4 — The Cubs again made use of the Pirates as cousins today in the first half of a double header, whereupon they were overcome by charitable inclinations and blundered themselves into an even break.

Charley Grimm's tourists, assisted by Bill Nicholson's 31st homer and some choice pitching by Paul Erickson, took the opening contest, 6 to 3. They followed up with a three run lead in the second game only to fall behind in the sixth and the instant the enemy went ahead the umpires called a halt because of darkness. The score was 4 to 3.

Max Butcher went the route against Erickson in the first game. The portly gentleman, who usually is strong against the Chicagoans, was his usual self in the first five innings during which the Cubs, with the aid of an error, held a 1 to 0 edge. Then Max gave up two runs in the sixth, mainly because of his own fielding blunder. The Cubs, wishing to remove the taint, delivered an honest three-run blast in the eighth, two runs developing on Nicholson's swat. Subsequently the Pirates damaged Erickson enough to rob him of a shutout.

Cubs Fail to Hold Lead.

The Cubs, again with the assistance of an error, captured their three run lead at the start of the second game at the expense of Xavier Rescigno and this stood undisturbed until Hy Vandenberg suddenly wabbled in the fourth.

Paul Derringer came to the rescue, but a break in the Cub defense forced him to surrender two runs. Then the veteran suffered again in the sixth, another error leading to the tying and winning runs. Al Rubeling, who had broken into action when Bob Elliott suffered a leg injury while running bases in the opening inning of the first game, bunted safely to bring home the winning run.

They Finally Solve Butcher.

Butcher was so tough in the early part of the first game that the Cubs scored on him only because of enemy assistance. Williams singled with one out in the third and was safe at second when Gustine dropped Rubeling's throw on Erickson's tap. Hughes furnished the single that moved Williams across the plate. The Cubs subsisted on this one run lead until the sixth when Hack doubled and Butcher fumbled Hughes' bunt. The two fellows skipped home on singles by Cavarretta and Nicholson.

Three Cub runs in the eighth put Erickson on easy street. Hack singled, Hughes sacrificed, and Cavarretta singled to score Hack. Butcher's next pitch was arched by Nicholson into the right field pavilion.

HOMEWARD DASH AFTER HOLIDAYS TAXES RAILWAYS

Heavy Traffic Expected to Continue Today.

Incoming and outgoing trains carried capacity Labor day crowds last night as holiday traffic rose to its peak. Volume heavier than the weekday normal was expected to continue thru today.

Railroad officials predicted few would be left stranded in passenger stations, but many railroads were taxed to the limit to find sufficient equipment to accommodate the rush and some lines were swamped last night.

Passenger station employes in Chicago indicated that the holiday volume would be as large or slightly larger than last Labor day and equal to the July Fourth figure.

Officials of transcontinental bus lines said traffic volume was below peace time levels. Local bus lines had heavier business. The influx of vacationers from Wisconsin points was a factor.

County highway police said many more holiday motorists were out than last Labor day.

GIRL, 12, COMES HOME; POSED AS A WAIF 2 WEEKS

Joan Brown, 12, a fifth grade student at Kenwood elementary school, who left home on Aug. 17 after telling her mother, Mrs. Shirley Brown, 5206 Lake Park av., that she was going to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, 2211 S. Damen av., returned home yesterday for a tearful reunion. The girl was reported missing Sept. 1 after the mother learned that Joan never arrived at her grandmother's.

Joan said she had been living with Mrs. A. L. Johnson, 1511 Hyde Park blvd., a former grocery clerk in the neighborhood, who agreed to let the girl stay with her and her two daughters after believing Joan's story that she had no home. Mrs. Johnson told Hyde Park police that the girl said her father was dead, that her mother didn't take care of her, and that she had been working for two years as a domestic. Mrs. Johnson added that she had bought $70 worth of clothes and food for the girl in two weeks.

Mrs. Brown said that she and the girl's father, Lester, an interior decorator living at 2649 North av., were estranged and that Joan probably had been worried because of their separation. Joan told police, "I was mixed up."

'MASTER RACE' MEMBER SEIZED IN BURLAP SUIT

Dressed only in a suit improvised from a burlap bag, a man believed to be an escaped German prisoner was picked up on route 21 a mile and a half north of Libertyville last night by Libertyville police.

Chief of Police Joseph Saam of Libertyville said he refused to give his name or age, but asserted in broken English that he is a member of the master race and that Germany would win the war. At Condell Memorial hospital in Libertyville physicians said he appeared uninjured but was suffering from hunger and exhaustion.

Boy, 8, Fatally Injured in Fall Off New Bicycle

Charles Winter, 8, of 4363 Lincoln av., was pronounced dead on arrival yesterday at Ravenswood hospital, where he was taken after he fell from his bicycle at Seeley and Montrose avs. The boy was bicycling with an aunt, Mrs. Loraine McCaffrey, and they stopped for traffic at the intersection of the avenues. Charles, whose bicycle was a new gift from his mother, Mrs. Virginia Winter, lost his balance and fell. His death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage.

SUFFERS HEAD INJURY IN FALL.

Thomas Dwyer, 63, of 2009 Lawrence av., suffered a laceration on the back of his head when he fell yesterday in an alley at the rear of 4808 N. Damen av.

4 HELD IN FAKING OF GAS RATION COUPONS IN N. Y.

New York Sept. 4 [Special].—Federal authorities today announced arrest of four alleged counterfeiters of gasoline ration coupons and seizure of a printing plant containing a supply of bogus coupon paper sufficient for more than 24 million gallons of gasoline.

Those arrested were William Taylor, 65; Edward Ahnert, 49; Louis Di Napoli, 40, and Ralph Fucelli, 32, all of New York. They were held on bail of $3,000 each on arraignment before United States Court Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter. Officers said the counterfeiting establishment was located in the basement of a private residence in Woodside, Queens.

At the New York office of price administration it was said the men planned to market the coupons at 10 cents a gallon for a total profit of $2,400,000.

AGREE TO LET EX-OWNERS BUY U.S. SEIZED LAND

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—Senate and house conferees on surplus war property disposal legislation reported today they had agreed on the principle of giving former owners an opportunity to repurchase land taken over by the government for war purposes.

They said they felt soldiers should be next in line to acquire the land, and that in all instances efforts should be made to promote disposition of property in family size parcels.

Attempting to obtain a compromise between divergent bills passed by senate and house, the conferees said that during the day they had made "the greatest progress yet." Chairman Manasco [D., Ala.] of the house conferees, remarked that "if we stopped right now, we'd have a pretty good bill."

CHINESE MOURN TOM Y. CHAN, 63, CHICAGO LEADER

The Chinese colony in Chicago mourned yesterday for Tom Y. Chan, 63, of 2263 Wentworth av., business man and statesman, who died Sunday in Wesley Memorial hospital. Associates said his death was hastened by over-work in behalf of Chinese war relief and in the recent fifth war loan drive, when he helped sell more than 4 millions in war bonds in Chinatown.

Chan was appointed a member of China's People's Political council in 1941 by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The position was similar to senator in China's nearest approach to a parliament.

Mr. Chan was president of the Chinese Trading company at 2261 Wentworth av., president of the Min-Sun Trading company, importers, at 2222 La Salle st., and founder of the Chinese Noodle Manufacturing company, 2261 Wentworth av. He had lived in Chicago 37 years.

He is survived by his widow, Lillian; six daughters, Grace, Florence, Helen, Eunice, Mary, and Priscilla, and by two sons, Tom Jr. and Ping. Services will be held Sept. 12 in the Chinese Christian church at 23d st. and Wentworth av.

WOMAN'S COAT TAKEN.

Miss Eleanor Wagner of 1447 N. Dearborn st., reported to police yesterday that a Persian lamb coat, a silver fox jacket, two rings, and $80 were taken from her room Sunday night.

Today's death notices contain the details of the funerals or memorial services of the following who died in the services of our country:

Thomas Gerald Burke
John M. Leuver
Anthony E. Sabatino

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

CCC, CREATED IN 'EMERGENCY' OF '33, LIVES ON

One of Biggest New Deal Spenders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—The Commodity Credit corporation was one of the first agencies created by the New Deal in what is charged was intended to circumvent constitutional limitations upon government financing. The CCC since has expanded into one of the largest and most powerful of the federal corporations and, as such, provides a good example of the checkered development and intricate fiscal operations which generally characterize these agencies.

The CCC came into being Oct. 16, 1933, under an "emergency" executive order by President Roosevelt. The original board of directors included such staunch New Dealers as Henry A. Wallace, then secretary of agriculture, and Henry Morgenthau Jr., then governor of the farm credit administration. The CCC was incorporated under the laws of Delaware.

No Basis for Pledging U. S. Credit.

Mr. Roosevelt took his authority to create the CCC from the national industrial recovery act, which subsequently was held unconstitutional. The act empowered the President to establish agencies and furnish personnel to carry out provisions of relief legislation, but nothing can be found which authorized him to organize a state chartered corporation to perform functions of the federal government, much less to pledge the credit of the United States.

The original 3 million dollar capital of the CCC was allotted by Mr Roosevelt from funds made available by the national industrial recovery act. The CCC, however, soon incurred a deficit of 97 million dollars, and on April 10, 1936, congress authorized the Reconstruction Finance corporation to purchase enough additional CCC stock to restore its original 3 million dollars and increase its capitalization to 100 million dollars.

Public records do not show how many millions of dollars since have been poured out to make up subsequent CCC losses. At present, the CCC borrows from the treasury on United States government guaranteed notes at 1 per cent interest. The corporation's borrowing power extends to 3 billion dollars.

Activities Produce No Revenue.

Originally, the activities of the CCC were confined primarily to loans on agricultural commodities. Currently, the corporation is involved in farm price support and stabilization and subsidy activities at home, and lend-lease operations abroad. The price support, subsidy and lend-lease activities produce no revenue.

As of June 30, 1943, the latest figures available, the CCC had total assets of 3 billion 581 million dollars against total liabilities of 3 billion 557 million. Operating expenses for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1943, totaled $145,185,000, and net loss was $104,496,000. As of April 30 this year, the CCC had 1,566 employes.

The Byrd economy committee warned in its report last month that the philosophy of American government in the economic field has undergone a marked change. Attention was called to the fact that avoidance of the federal financial structure thru indiscriminate use of the corporation device has become the order of the day, with the inevitable result of this growth "the impairment of control by congress."

Held "Invincible" Competitors.

The magnitude of administration corporations has become so great that it rivals the government itself, the committee found, and in many instances the corporations have more power than federal departments. Government corporations, autonomous and not subject to effective over-all control, encroach upon private enterprise as "invincible" competitors because they have almost unlimited federal credit at low interest rates, and are free from practically all kinds of taxes, the committee asserted.

The Republican party platform and the Byrd committee recommend prompt and comprehensive public control of government corporations by congress, the treasury, the budget bureau and the general accounting office. In this connection, Rep. Miller [R., Mo.] said in the house of representatives a few months ago that American taxpayers as investors in the obligation of New Deal lending-spending agencies should be given the protection that is afforded private investors by "blue sky" laws and the securities and exchange act.

Economist Raps ICC Policy of Wiping Out Railway Stock

Wiping out of the common stockholders of railroads in reorganization was termed unjustified in a statement yesterday by Elisha M. Friedman, New York consulting economist. He declared that the stockholders' property is being taken from them under the guise of legality and the country appears to be unaware of it.

Friedman said that the 36 Class I. railroads that were in reorganization from 1930 to 1944 had more than 2.7 billion dollars of common stock outstanding, or 38 per cent of the total of rail common stock, and that these roads operated about 86,000 miles of railroad, or 38 per cent of United States mileage.

Says Small Holders Lose.

It is the little people who are the victims of government policy in railroad reorganizations, he declared, altho large institutions also are harmed. He explained that in four sample railroads about 80 per cent of the stockholders each held less than $2,000 market value.

"Under what law does the interstate commerce commission confiscate private property?" Friedman continued. "Section 77, amending the bankruptcy act was passed in 1935. It provides for 'modifying or altering the rights of stockholders.' But it nowhere provides for wiping them out. Again sub-section E provides for 'fair and equitable treatment for the interests of those rejecting the plan of reorganization.'"

Friedman said that Section 77 authorizes the ICC to reduce fixed charges, but does not authorize it to reduce total capitalization.

Relieved of Properties.

"Yet the Supreme court, in the reorganizations of the Milwaukee and of the North Western, decided that the ICC's confiscation of the stock was beyond judicial review," he said, "and 400 million dollars par value of stock, abundantly covered by assets, on the ICC's own valuation, was destroyed without any hearing for the stockholders."

Friedman said that the aim of the bankruptcy law was to relieve debtors of their burden, but its effect, as interpreted by the ICC and sustained by the Supreme court, has been to relieve the debtors of their properties.

"Shares with high earnings are declared worthless by the ICC," he continued. "Look at what a few roads earned recently: Milwaukee, $12 a share; North Western, $25; New Haven, $22; Western Pacific, $26, and St. Louis Southwestern, $38."

Friedman urged the railroad stockholders to unite with other stockholder groups to resist the "invasion of their rights."

SYNTHETIC TIRE TREAD DESIGNS DECREASE HEAT

A new tread design which slows the growth of tread cracks and reduces the running temperatures of synthetic rubber truck tires was announced yesterday by Goodyear Tire and Rubber company. Goodyear engineers said the new tread design brings synthetic rubber tires near the performance goal of prewar truck tires of natural rubber.

The retarding of crack growth is accomplished by changing the usual continuous tread ribs to include terminals about every half inch in the crevices between the ribs. Damaging breaks or cracks usually start in the crevices, the company said.

Heat reduction is accomplished by a completely ventilated shoulder on the tire, instead of the usual unbroken rib type shoulder.

TIPS HELD TAXABLE.

As a waitress I receive both salary and tips, but I did not know until recently that the latter are considered taxable. The revenue bureau is demanding that I pay what is for me a large sum in taxes on tips which, it contends, I got in 1941, 1942, and 1943 and will receive during 1944. Since tips, unlike a fixed salary, are uncertain in amount, how can they be subject to income tax? B. P.

Tips which represent compensation for services rendered constitute income, under a regulation of the commissioner of internal revenue, and thus are subject to income tax. Persons receiving this form of compensation should keep a record of it and report it in federal tax returns.

The fact that earnings from tips are indefinite in amount has no effect on their taxability. Many other items of income vary, such as salesmen's commissions, professional fees, and the profits of a business, but this has no bearing on their tax status.

If the bureau has overestimated your tax deficiency, you are entitled to dispute the estimates and to present such records as you can to prove the actual amounts.

NEW CENT. SOYA STOCK OPTION IS GIVEN HOLDERS

PEAK NATIONAL INCOME, OUTPUT RATES REACHED

Gain in Production Is Leveling Off.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—National income reached a new high annual rate of 158 billion dollars and national production a new high annual rate of 196 billion in the first half of 1944, the commerce department reported today.

However, expansion of both income and production was at slackened rates, the department said, the 3 per cent increase in gross national production over the final half of 1943 representing only about one-fourth of the average half-yearly increase recorded since 1941.

Predicts Dip if War Ends.

It predicted that if military operations continue on both fronts thru 1944, national income and production for the entire year will be essentially the same as the annual rate for the first six months. On the other hand, end of the European war would lead to a downturn of economic activity the extent of which would depend largely upon ability to deal with demobilization problems.

Slackening of the rate of expansion in production was paralleled closely by the movement of government war purchases, the department said. The annual rate of such government purchases, which reached 86 billion in the first half of 1944, represented an increase of only 3 per cent over the last half of 1943. There were much larger increases in previous periods.

Payments to persons in military service and their dependents, were the most important single factor in raising income payments to individuals to new heights. Net incomes to farm operators also contributed, resuming, tho at a slackened rate, an expansion which was interrupted in the last half of 1943.

Factory Pay Rolls Stable.

Manufacturing pay rolls, on the other hand, were stable, differing markedly from the earlier war period when they were the most important single element in the rise in incomes.

Consumer expenditures rose to an annual rate of more than 95 billion, continuing the upward trend thruout the war. There were clear indications, however, that the war time upsurge in demand largely had run its course, the department added. Increase in consumer expenditures over 1941 was attributed largely to price changes, "but even when allowance is made for the price rise it would appear that the over-all position of civilian consumers has been favorable during the war."

Despite high levels of consumer expenditures and the increase of personal taxes to 23 billion dollars, the department said a larger margin was left for individual savings, including the savings of unincorporated enterprises. Their annual volume of 36 billion in the first half of 1944 represented an all-time peak.

Free Material as War Ends, Bank Advises

New York, Sept. 4 (AP).—An end to orders limiting the use of materials "at the same time that wholesale concellations of war contracts go out" was urged today by the National City bank in a discussion of reconversion problems.

The bank excepted raw materials which come from Japanese dominated territory, such as rubber, tin and hemp, and domestic items which are short of demand, such as lumber, paper, textiles, and chemicals.

No Excuse for Limitations.

Citing the war production board estimate that an end to the European war would mean a 40 per cent cut in war contracts, the bank said that:

"When war contracts are cut as indicated, raw materials with few exceptions will be in surplus supply. There will no longer be reason or excuse for limitations on their use, and the first essential reconversion policy should be to wipe out such limitations promptly."

Most War Items Abundant.

Commenting on the advisability of some industries reconverting now to peace work, the bank declared that "in the overwhelming majority of war items it is clear that production is up to requirements, and that stocks in most cases are abundant."

The exceptions involve programs recently expanded, changes in requirements, and difficulties with labor supply, it added.

Cream Price Spread Held Butter Shortage Factor

Higher prices paid for cream to be used as cream than for cream to be diverted into butter are of major importance in the current butter shortage, the war food administration said yesterday in its weekly dairy market review. Many Chicago stores were out of butter at the close of last week and indications were that the shortage will be more widespread this week and in the weeks following, the WFA said.

MARKETS REOPEN.

Principal markets and banks, closed yesterday for the Labor day holiday, will reopen today.

F. M. KNIGHT TO HEAD 6TH WAR LOAN DRIVE IN CHICAGO, COUNTY

Francis M. Knight, senior vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company in charge of its government securities portfolio, has been named chairman of the forthcoming 6th war loan drive in Chicago and Cook county, Renslow P. Sherer, chairman of the war finance committee of Illinois, announced yesterday.

F. M. Knight.

Knight has started preliminary work on the special organization required for the drive, which will be held in the late fall.

A graduate of Yale university, Knight has been in banking in Chicago since 1915, except for two years with the navy during the World war. He began with the old Central Trust company and joined the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, Continental's predecessor, in 1921.

NEW ALUMINUM ALLOY FOR B-29 PLANE REVEALED

New York, Sept. 4 [Special].—A "super-strong" aluminum alloy made by Reynolds Metals company, known as R-301, is being used in the construction of B-29 bombers, the company said today.

The alloy, as strong as structural steel but only one-third as heavy, is being prefabricated by Reynolds into top center wing skins. The Boeing Aircraft company, designer of the plane, is considering use of the alloy for other parts, Reynolds said.

Savings and Loan League to Hear Federal Official

The Illinois Savings and Loan league will open its 65th annual convention today in the Edgewater Beach hotel, to continue thru Thursday. B. F. Bourland, special representative of the federal home loan bank system, Washington, D. C., will speak this afternoon on planning for community housing.

Super Security Plan Already Exists in Insurance—Johnston

High praise for America's private security system of insurance as compared with any "incentive stifling burocracy" contemplated in a post-war super-federal social security system was given by Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in an article released yesterday which will appear in the forthcoming issue of the Casualty and Surety Journal.

"The private security system of insurance is as American as apple pie," Johnston wrote, "for it was conceived and developed in the adventurous American spirit of individual initiative and enterprise.

Highly Competitive Industry.

"No sprawling, incentive stifling burocracy is this dynamic system, but a nation-wide industry, composed of thousands of highly competitive units, striving constantly to give the public better service at lower cost. No huge army on the public pay roll here, but an industry composed of 524,000 self-reliant employes and producers earning their own way in the world, keeping in step with the pulsating tempo of progress."

Johnston said that, thru private enterprise, a super-social security system is already here and questioned "the need of elaborate blueprints for a super-federal social security system."

Johnston said that he favors extension of the present system of federal old age benefits to additional classes of beneficiaries.

He offered statistics to show the consistent decline of insurance rates and said that war has emphasized the vital value of the insurance industry's work in fire and accident prevention and in the fields of safety and health education.

Predicts Greater Service.

"Great as our private security system is today, tomorrow it will inevitably rise to new heights of accomplishment and public service," he predicted.

"Post-war trends clearly indicate an unprecedented peace time expansion of business and commerce. Anticipating those trends, insurance research experts are charting plans to meet the challenge of the new industrial frontier of the future."

He paid tribute to the high principles of the insurance industry which he wrote "are such that seldom are the motives or operation of an insurance company questioned, for the industry today is one of unquestionable integrity, its leadership characterized by businessmen of honesty and courage. Under such leadership, insurance will surely march without hesitation in the parade of America's unceasing power."

Seventy Face Seizure in Union Clash.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—The government took possession of eight more bituminous coal mines today and indicated it will keep on seizing mines as fast as they are shut down by spreading strikes of supervisory employes.

The United Clerical, Technical, and Supervisory Employes union, newly organized by the United Mine Workers, has been calling the strikes as part of its fight to be recognized as a bargaining agency.

Only five of the mines taken over today are strike-bound, but in order to preserve the companies as operating units, all their mines were seized.

Fourteen other mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia were shut down today by supervisory employes' strikes, making a total of 19 idle, employing 9,000 persons. These 14 newly idle mines face early seizure, along with the other properties of the companies which operate them.

Trouble in 70 Mines.

This appeared to be only the beginning. The war labor board told President Roosevelt the union has struck or threatened to strike in about 70 mines producing 150,000 tons a day. These mines employ 1,500 supervisory employes and 20,000 production employes.

Both the WLB and Interior Secretary Ickes said that if the union follows its present pattern, the supervisory employes will strike in all 70 mines immediately after the strike vote is taken—regardless of whether a majority of the union members vote to strike.

Ickes and George W. Taylor, acting chairman of the WLB, said that in some of the strikes already in effect, most of the voting members had cast their ballots against the stoppage.

Mines Affected by Order.

Three mines of the Springfield Coal Co., located at St. Benedict, Nanty-Glo, and Thompsontown, Pa., three mines of the Imperial Coal Co., located at Nettleton, Coalport, and Boltz, Pa.; one mine of the Heisley Coal Co., Nanty-Glo, Pa.; and one mine of the Monroe Mining Co., Revloc, Pa.

Ickes appointed the presidents of the companies as federal operating managers and announced the mines will reopen Wednesday.

The same procedure put a group of Pennsylvania strike-bound mines back into production today. These were properties of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co. and the Ford Collieries Co. They were seized last week along with other mines belonging to the same companies. Some of the mines seized in that group were not on strike.

John McAlpine, president of the new union, came to Washington today to find out the government's policy in operating seized mines. In a conference with Ickes and other coal officials he was told that his union will get no more recognition from the government than it has from the private operators—unless the WLB certifies it as a bargaining agency.

The WLB sent telegrams to McAlpine, calling upon him to get the strikers back on the job. The board said the strikes violated labor's no-strike pledge.

Ickes said the current strikes have cost the nation about 300,000 tons of soft coal, much of which was badly needed for steel production.

Woman Screams; Prowler Tries to Flee; Hurt in Fall

Frightened by the screams of Mrs. M. McCloskey, who saw a prowler on the rear porch roof at 1409 Cuyler av., a man identified as Frank Cook, 25, of 4255 Kimball av., suffered a broken right leg when he fell from the porch as he attempted to escape. Cook, who refused to talk at Bridewell hospital, where he was taken by police, was put on a year's probation in 1940 for attempted assault, Lt. Thomas Lyons of Town Hall police reported.

12 END STRIKE THAT COST 2,300 TONS OF STEEL

Production of steel at sheet and tin mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in Gary was resumed yesterday after a 24 hour wildcat strike by 12 men employed as gas producers in the 42 inch and 80 inch hot strip sections. The strike caused a loss of production of 2,300 tons of steel intended for ship plate and coils, the company reported. It was the 55th strike in the corporation's Chicago district plants since Jan. 1, and resulted in work stoppage for more than 500 men. The men, members of the United Steel Workers of America [CIO] struck for an increase in their incentive pay rate. It was not granted.

HANGS SELF IN WAUKEGAN JAIL.

William Dakus, 52, who lived three blocks west of the North Chicago city limits, hanged himself in his cell in the Lake county jail in Waukegan early yesterday. Dakus was arrested Sunday on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

F. D. R. URGES ACTION ON HOME RULE BILL FOR PUERTO RICO

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4 (AP).—President Roosevelt today urged house passage of legislation to give the people of Puerto Rico a greater degree of self-government, including the right to elect their own chief executive.

The President sent a letter to Chairman Bell [D., Mo.] of the house insular committee which now has under consideration a measure providing Puerto Rican self-government. The letter said:

"The passage of the bill is advocated by all of the political parties in Puerto Rico."

By extending home rule in Puerto Rico, the president said "we would multiply the good will we have already gained thruout the western hemisphere, as we did among the peoples of the east by our liberal policy toward the Philippines."

SALVAGE OF TIN DROPS; WOMEN URGED TO HELP

Receipts of the detinning plant for this area at East Chicago reached a new low level for the year in August, Mrs. Walter J. Kelly, chairman of the Chicago office of civilian defense tin salvage committee, said yesterday. She reminded housewives that, no matter how soon the war in Europe ends, tin still will be a vital material because of the war in the Pacific.

Mrs. Kelly told women that it is unpatriotic not to contribute all available old tin cans. They must be prepared by opening the ends, removing labels, and pressing flat. If left near the regular garbage deposit they will be picked up by disposal trucks, she said.

An appeal also was made to breweries to donate their power can openers to prepare cans that have accumulated in large quantities at restaurants, hotels, and other sources.

School Today! War Cuts High Classes, Adds to Air Training

Lower Grades Gain

When Chicago public schools open this morning, the elementary grades will show an increase of at least 1,000 pupils over the 1943 roster, but high school enrolments will be about 3,000 fewer than last September, Supt. William H. Johnson predicted yesterday. Elementary and high school enrolment last fall was 371,000.

High school students' refusal to leave well paying war jobs and return to classes is directly responsible for the estimated decrease, Johnson pointed out. Military service also has reduced rosters, he said. About 100,000 will register at high schools.

Joint Campaign Gains Little.

An intensive campaign by school and civic leaders, aided by the war man power commission, aimed at getting students back to school has made little headway, Johnson said.

Increased demands by war industries for more workers has resulted in high school placement counselors outlining a program calling for a heavy part time working schedule. Counselors are coöperating with the United States employment service and the WMC.

County to Hold Its Own.

Little decrease in enrolment is expected when most Cook county schools outside Chicago open this morning, Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent, said.

An increase of at least 2,000 students in both grade and high schools is expected when Chicago Catholic schools open tomorrow morning. A total enrolment of 195,000 is expected for the eight colleges, 90 high schools, and 403 grade schools of the archdiocese.

More Rooms for Pupils.

On Chicago's crowded south side one new school accommodating 1,500 pupils will open Sept. 15. The building, formerly occupied by La Salle Extension university, 41st st. and Michigan av., is being converted into an elementary school.

The board of education also has let contracts totaling $316,452 for construction of a 20 room addition to Philips elementary school, Pershing rd. and Prairie av. This will accommodate 800.

La Pointe New Chief

Arthur LaPointe, former aeronautics instructor at Calumet High school for 11 years and now superintendent of shops at Navy pier, where more than 50,000 aviation machinists' mates have been trained, will become director of a greatly expanded aviation mechanics training program in Chicago public schools when the fall semester opens today.

Philip L. McNamee, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of vocational education, and LaPointe outlined the plans yesterday.

Eight new shop buildings have been erected to accommodate the increased aviation work, as well as other shop courses, and seven other shops buildings are planned in the coming year. These buildings measure 37 by 112 feet and cost $23,000 each.

Courses Standardized.

LaPointe, who was given a leave from the schools in March, 1941, to supervise the training program of the civil aeronautics authority for 22 colleges and universities in Michigan, will coördinate and standardize all aviation courses in the Chicago schools.

During this school year, LaPointe said, it is hoped to establish four chief aviation technical training schools in the city, to be certified by the CAA. Graduates of a two year course will be eligible to take examinations to qualify as airplane mechanics or airplane engine mechanics. Those who finish one year may qualify as apprentices.

LaPointe said the program will train 1,000 apprentices or full mechanics a year to take jobs in the large airplane plants that have located in the Chicago area since the war started.

Four Major Centers.

The four major centers will be at the Chicago Vocational school, 8023 Normal av.; Dunbar Trade school, 4401 St. Lawrence av.; Washburne Trade school, 1225 Sedgwick st., and Lane Technical High school, Addison st. and Western av. Tilden Technical High school will have an extensive course stressing engine mechanics.

After the war, the new Chicago Vocational school building at 87th st. and Anthony av., now occupied by a naval technical school, will be converted into an aeronautical technical college, offering two years of training beyond the high school courses, McNamee said.

LIQUOR RAIDERS ARREST SEVEN AT LOOP CLUB

Five men and two women who were arrested in the Players' club, 75 W. Randolph st., yesterday by police who said they found liquor being sold after hours, were released on bonds of $100 each to appear in Women's court this morning.

Lt. Frank Casey of the 1st district charged Thomas Conway, 37, of 6649 Drexel av., the manager; Valentine Kiefer, 49, of 75 S. Clark st., the bartender; and Cornelius Johnson, 54, of 4748 Calumet av., Negro elevator operator, with selling liquor after hours.

The police dispersed 75 customers and charged four others with disorderly conduct when they refused to leave. They gave their names as Mrs. Betty Rodgers, 19, and Mrs. Dorothy Moturo, 24, both of 666 Diversey pkwy.; Lawrence Coty, 26, of Forest Park; and Joseph Clark, 26, of 1118 N. State st.

Dr. Joseph C. Ross, Heart Attack Victim, Improves

Dr. Joseph C. Ross, Republican committeeman of the 40th ward and former alderman who has been critically ill in Edgewater hospital, was reported a "little better" yesterday. He was stricken with a heart attack last week. Dr. Ross is a member of the state liquor control commission.

Oak Parker, 21, Arrested on Rape Charge of Girl, 14

Worth Bissell, 21, of 627 N. Grove av., Oak Park, was arrested yesterday on a rape charge on complaint of a 14 year old girl. Police said Bissell admitted having had relations with the girl Saturday night, but denied raping her. Bond was fixed at $5,000 for hearing today before Justice of the Peace Alfred T. Brennan in Oak Park.
